LONDON AIR-MAIL LETTER

Official Rebuke: Public School Experiment:
London Streets And The Horser A
Borrowed Hat: Death Duties
Yield More: Dean of Exeter:
Gathering of Seamen:

(From Our Own Correspondent)

London, June 20.
That Californian paper pointed to the April issue of the "New Leader," where it appeared preceded by the explanation:

"All young men ought to be interested in knowing how much more scientific are the means by which they may die in the next war."

The "New Leader," said it had received the advertisement from a Socialist correspondent in "California."

None of these various people knew, apparently, that the advertisement appeared just once in "American Machinist"—on May 6, 1915.

Its publication created a popular outcry, and brought upon the paper an official rebuke.

A SCHOOL CLUB HOUSE

One of the most interesting public school experiments I have come across for some time is at Felstead, where the recently restored 16th century manorial farm, Felstead Bury, has been turned into a school club house.

The purpose is to break the circle of work, games, work, and to give senior boys an opportunity to develop interests of their own.

Rooms are being allotted to the numerous school societies. There will also be a club-room for the 40 boys who are full members and a room for the careers master.

Felstead Bury once belonged to Richard, Lord Riche, founder of the school, in 1564, and Lord Chancellor in the reign of Edward VI. The house, which is to be officially reopened on Speech Day, next Friday, by Sir William Bragg, was bequeathed to the school by the late Col. D. C. Phillott.

NO PLACE FOR THE HORSE
Lord Kilmaine, one of the Irish Representative peers, has a crisp method of promoting discussion in the House of Lords on various topics.

Last year he moved "that we go in for more interesting and attractive postage stamps." On another occasion he moved "to call attention to the present colour of the seats and benches in this Chamber."

To-day he proposes "to call attention to the congestion of traffic in the London streets."

I have no doubt that he will return to the subject of horse-drawn vehicles.

He contends that there is no longer a place for the horse on London streets, except during the night and early morning.

THE DUCHESS BORROWS A HAT

The Duchess of Atholl yesterday set a new fashion in hats. It was only a matter, however, of temporary expediency.

It happened that while the Standing Committee of the House of Commons, of which she is a member, was considering the Shops Bill she wished to raise a point of order.

She was not wearing a hat, and therefore was not properly attired.

"Give me a hat, please, quickly," she called out to members of the public.

Immediately a man's grey felt hat was handed to her, and, hastily placing it on her head, the Duchess rose and submitted her question.

She was at once assured by the Chairman that her point of order was out of order.

Amid loud laughter she handed back the borrowed hat.

BIG RISE THIS YEAR

Last night's revenue returns contained a pleasant surprise for taxpayers. In the past week, the revenue collected under the heading of estate duties was £2,770,000, compared with £900,000 for the corresponding week a year ago.

In the period from April 8 to June 16 the total collected is £19,290,000, compared with £13,260,000 for the same period last year. The comparable figure for the corresponding figure of 1932 was £16,030,000.

In the last full Budget year, 1933-34, no less than £85,250,000 was produced by the Death Duties, and the estimate for the year was exceeded by £10,500,000. This surplus was, to a large extent, explained by the special windfall from the enormous estate of the late Sir John Ellerman.

In view of this fact, Mr. Chamberlain put his estimate for the current year at £76,000,000, or over £9,000,000 less than the amount actually collected last year. After the Budget speech had been delivered, it was assumed that the whole of the duty payable on the Ellerman estate had actually been collected last year.

A reference to the text of the speech, however, will show that the Chancellor did not say so in express terms. Possibly the increase shown this year, while reflecting some new windfalls, may also be due in part to final payments on account of this estate.

The way in which Death Duty collections are running ahead of the comparable figures for last year begins to suggest that Budget critics who took the view that the Chancellor had under-estimated his revenue may be justified. It is of course, far too early yet to prophesy as to the outcome of the current Budget, but figures like those disclosed last night brighten the prospect for the taxpayer.

NEW DEAN OF ST. PAUL'S

The King has been pleased to approve the appointment of the Very Rev. Walter Robert Matthews, D.D., Dean of Exeter, to the Deanery of St. Paul's, in succession to the Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, K.C.V.O., D.D. The appointment will take effect on the resignation of Dean Inge on October 2 next.

Dr. Matthews, who is about 63, was appointed Dean of Exeter in October, 1931. Till then his work had lain entirely in London, and especially with King's College, where he was successively student, lecturer, and Professor of the Philosophy of Religion. For two years he was vicar of Christ Church, Hornsey, and was chaplain to Gray's Inn and chaplain to the King. He is widely known for his writings on theological and philosophical subjects, and was chosen to give the Boyle, White, Noble, and Wilde lectures. His latest book, "Essays in Construction," which appeared last December, shows him as much more the Christian philosopher like Westcott than a scholar like Lightfoot. He married in 1912 Margaret Bryan, B.Sc., and has two sons and a daughter.

NAVAL CONFERENCE PREPARATIONS

There were conversations between representatives of the British and the United States Governments at No. 10, Downing Street to-day about preparations for the 1935 Naval Conference. The British Government was represented by Mr. MacDonald, Sir Bolton Eyres Monsell (the First Lord of the Admiralty), Vice-Admiral Little, and Mr. R. L. Craigie, the Foreign Office expert on naval disarmament. The United States Government was represented by the Ambassador in London (Mr. R. W. Bingham), Mr. Norman Davis, Mr. R. Atherton, and Admiral R. E. Leigh. All of them will meet again on Wednesday morning.

It is insisted that the representatives of the two Governments are discussing nothing but the preliminaries of the Conference, but preliminaries in the present context of naval disarmament may be all-important. They may even raise the question whether the Conference can meet at all in view of the growth of Japanese Imperialism, since the London Naval Treaty was signed, and also of the unresolved problem of Franco-Italian parity, which hangs over from the London Conference. It is being suggested that if the Conference does take place it should be held in Paris this time, since Washington and London have had the two earlier conferences.

Dining Table Decorations

Certain rules must be observed with table decorations. The first is that the centre piece of fruit or flowers must be low enough not to interfere with vision or conversation across the table. Candles, which provide the most attractive method of lighting the table should also be arranged with this in mind. The present vogue for tall conical incidentally, is an excellent one as the flames are above the level of the eye.

On a very long table, two groups of decorations will give a better effect than a centre piece. The fruit or flowers should of course, be chosen with reference to the colour of table linen and dinner service.

When only one bowl or vase is used, it should be of clear glass, silver pewter or black ware. It is well to choose one that is quite simple in design, so that it will be suitable for almost any variety of flowers. The colour of a cheap bowl can, if necessary, be changed by a coat of paint.

A floral table decoration should include flowers in all stages—full-blown blossoms, half-opened blooms, buds, and their own leaves which are always the most suitable. Avoid having all flower and foliage stems of one length. Irregular lengths look best, as you will notice if you look at the way Nature arranges growing plants in the garden.

COOKERY NOOK

Caramel junket is a pleasant change from the ordinary junket. Make a caramel syrup, not too dark, with two and a half ounces of sugar and half a teaspoonful of water. Add to this a pint of milk and, when it is at blood heat, add the rennet with a pinch of salt and a hint of vanilla essence. Cream is particularly good with this junket.

No Wonder!

The young housewife was in tears over her futile attempt to cook hubby's first meal. "What is it, dear?" he asked, sympathetically. "Oven out of order?" "Oh, no," she sobbed. "I—I've been all the morning trying to pluck this rabbit!"

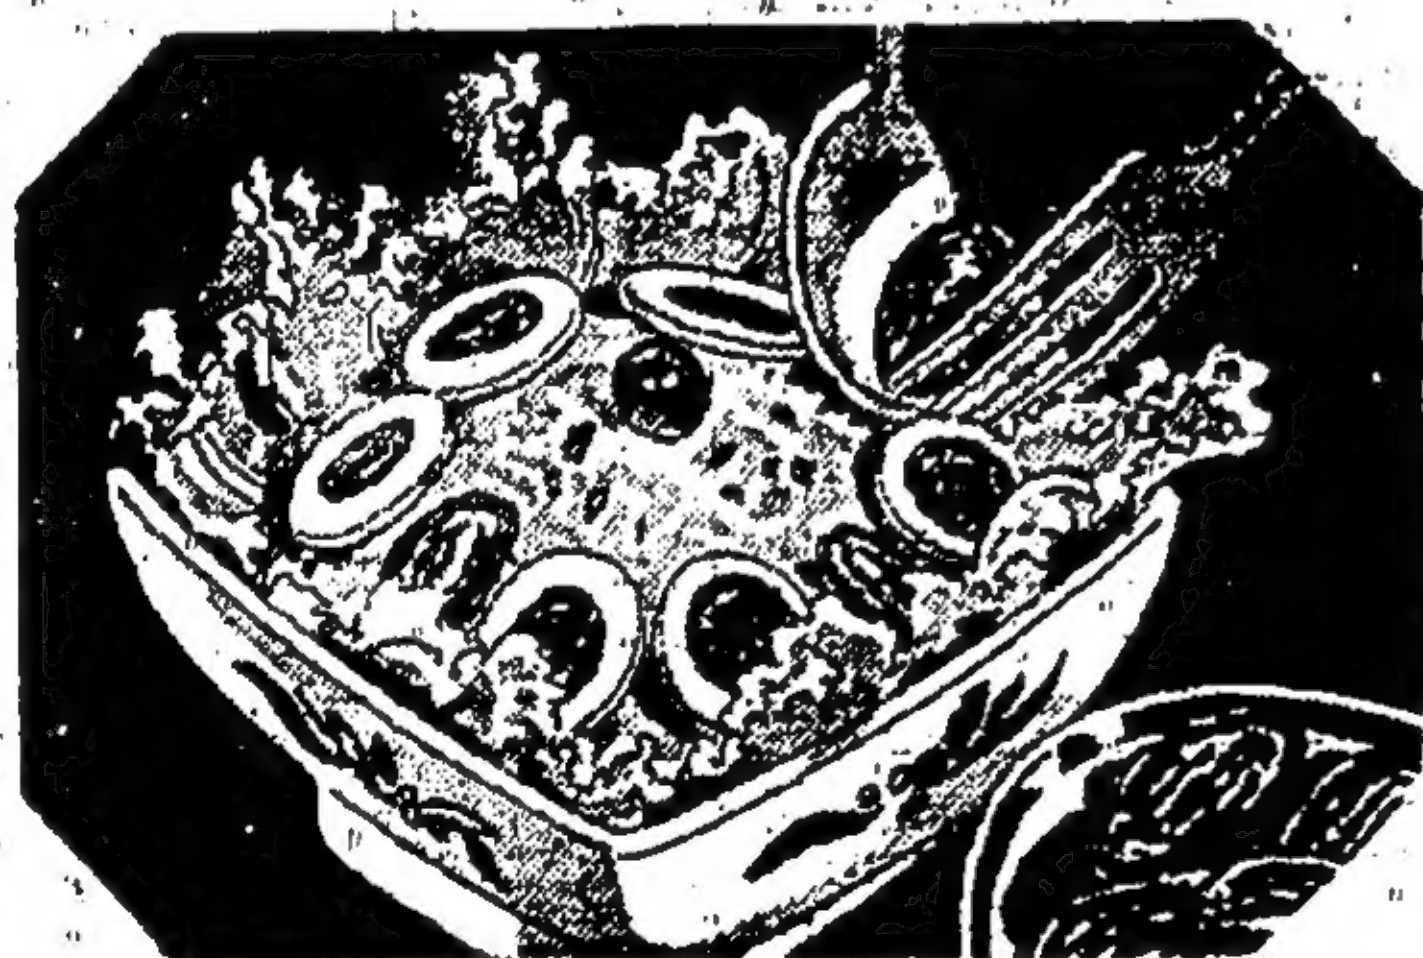

THEY LOVE THESE CURLS

It is an old recipe, and the origin of the name I do not know.

Take 2 ozs. each of butter, castor sugar, syrup, and plain flour; also 1 teaspoonful of ground ginger.

Put butter, sugar and syrup into saucepan and melt (do not let the butter boil), then add the flour and ginger, and stir well.

Place in small spoonfuls on flat baking sheet, bake in moderate oven until deep golden brown. Allow to cool slightly, then roll round finger. When cold they are very crisp, and are a special favourite with children.

Baked Bananas and Rhubarb

Select tender rhubarb and cut 2 quarts in 2-inch pieces without removing the red skin. Peel and scrape 4 ripe bananas and split lengthwise. In a greased shallow baking dish place a layer of the rhubarb, add the banana halves, then the remaining rhubarb. Sprinkle with 1 cup sugar mixed with 1/2 teaspoon salt, dot with 2 tablespoons butter and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. Remove cover and cook for 30 minutes or until the syrup has thickened. Serve cold.

Chilled Fruit

2/3 cup diced pineapple
2/3 cup diced pears
1/2 cup seeded white cherries
1 cup fruit juices
1/3 cup sugar
2 tsp. lemon juice
Mix and chill the ingredients. Serve in glass cups.

Some Unusual Breads

If you've never tried baking your own bread you have missed a real treat. It's not hard to do—particularly with such recipes as these.

Prune Bread

Mix and sift 1/2 cup white flour with 1 teaspoon salt and 4 teaspoons baking powder. Blend with 1 cup brown sugar and 2 cups whole wheat flour. Add 2 tablespoons melted shortening and 14 cups prune juice and milk with 1 cup cooked prunes cut up. Combine thoroughly, and pour into a greased loaf pan. Let rise 15 minutes before baking. Bake for 1 hour in a moderate oven.

Calves' Brains With Green Sauce

If this is carefully prepared according to directions, it is quite admirable. Let the brains lie in warm water for several hours. Then cook them in salted water, to which you have added three spoonfuls of white wine vinegar, some parsley, chives, a clove of garlic, three cloves, a sprig of thyme, a bay leaf, and, if you have it, a sprig of pinch of basil.

When the brains are done, take them out, drain them, and let them get cold. Then cut them in quarters, roll them in flour, and fry them till golden in butter in a frying-pan. Arrange them on a dish and serve them with the following sauce:

Put into a saucepan a tablespoonful of olive oil, half a pint of good stock, and a little white wine. Then add some shallot, watercress, tarragon, parsley, chives, and a suspicion of garlic, all chopped finely together. Season with salt and black pepper and let them boil together for a moment or two.

If you have any clear gravy, a little might be added to the sauce with advantage.

Pancakes To-day

8ozs. flour, 1 pint milk,
Pinch of salt, 2 eggs.

Sieve the flour and salt into a basin and make a well in the centre. Drop in the yolks of eggs and mix some of the flour into them gradually with a wooden spoon. Add half the milk very gradually, stirring in the rest of the flour. Beat till very smooth and full of air bubbles. Add the rest of the milk and let it stand for an hour.

Whisk the whites of eggs very stiffly and stir in just before using. Melt a little lard in a frying pan, make smoking hot, pour to about an egg-cupful of the batter, letting it run all over the pan. Let it rest for a minute or so till it is set and browned underneath, lift it with a broad-bladed knife and toss the pancake or turn it.

Brown on the other side, slip the pancake on to sugared paper, sprinkle with lemon or orange juice. This quantity will make enough for four or five people.

Savoury Chicken Pie

This is an American recipe, which has been tested here and found very good.

You can use a boiling fowl for it. Prepare and thoroughly wash the bird, truss, and put it into fast-boiling white stock. Cook rapidly for 1½ minutes, then reduce the heat so that there is only enough to keep the contents of the pan simmering gently until cooked.

The time, roughly, is twenty minutes for the pound and twenty minutes over. When cooked, take up the fowl; cut the meat from the bones, skin it, and put it through the mincer. Mix it with two minced Spanish onions, a couple of skinned and chopped tomatoes, a dash of cayenne, and a seasoning of salt. While the fowl is boiling, cook about a quarter of a pound of spaghetti in salted water until tender, then strain it. Mix the cooked spaghetti with the meat, and try the mixture in butter for ten minutes or so. Now mix in some tomato puree (made from the pulp of two large tomatoes, a gill of milk, and a little flour for thickening) and turn the whole into a pie-dish. Cover with a thick layer of seasoned mashed potato, and bake till the "crust" is brown.

If preferred, a short pastry can take the place of the mashed potato "crust." A good one is made from half a pound of flour sieved with a small teaspoonful of baking-powder and a pinch of salt, mixed with quarter-pound of lard or dripping, and made into a stiff paste with water.

Cherry Cream Parfait

1 package cherry gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
1 cup cream, whipped
Few grains salt

Dissolve cherry gelatin in boiling water; add cold water. Fill parfait glasses about 3/4 full, using only 1/2 of gelatin. Chill until firm. When remaining 1/2 begins to thicken, whip with egg beater to stiff froth. When very stiff beat in stiffly whipped cream, to which the few grains of salt have been added. Pile lightly on top of plain gelatin in the glasses. Serves 8.

Superior Salad

1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water or canned pear juice
1 teaspoon salt
3 to 4 halves canned pears cut in cubes

Sandwich Filling

Chopped olives, peppers and nuts added to mayonnaise makes a tasty filling for sandwiches.

COCONUT PUDDING

Take 1 grated coconut, 1 large egg, level table-spoon sugar, 1 tea-cup coconut milk.

Grate the coconut, put half in a basin, and cover with boiling water to extract the milk. Put remainder of coconut and sugar in a basin, and mix thoroughly with the beaten egg. Drain off a tea-cupful of the milk and stir it in. Pour into a buttered pie-dish and bake in a quick oven for 10 minutes. Serve separately remainder of coconut milk.

JUG AND GLASSES

A water, lemonade, or "cup" set of plain crystal glass strikes a new note by having all its decoration on the bottom of the tumbler and jug. The inside of the base of these is dome-shaped instead of flat, and is painted with a heavy spray of ripe blue plums, which makes an enticing end to a cool drink.

SPONGE CAKES

Swiss Roll and Sandwich

Sponge cakes, always popular are always heartily welcomed. By using a good self-raising flour and mixing in a thick, warm basin success in making these delicacies is assured. Tins used for cooking Swiss roll, sandwich cake, sponge fingers or sponge flan should be well brushed over with lard—not butter, as butter contains moisture. Then ordinary flour must be dusted over the lard so that every part of the tin is well covered. All ingredients must be placed in readiness before beginning to mix. The following will make sufficient sponge mixture for either one Swiss roll, one sandwich baked in two halves, or two sponge flan cases:—

3oz. Castor Sugar.
3oz. Self-Raising Flour.
2 Eggs.
Grated Rind of 1 Lemon.
Pinch of Salt.

Put the sugar into the well-warmed basin, add the two eggs and the salt, and whisk briskly for eight minutes. Fold in lightly with a fork the flour and the lemon rind. For a Swiss roll spread evenly over the prepared Swiss roll tin. Bake immediately on the middle shelf of a hot oven, for seven minutes. While baking, warm two tablespoonfuls of jam mixed with one desert-spoonful of warm water, and lay out a sheet of grease-proof paper dusted with castor sugar. Turn the cake on to this, bottom side up, and spread with the jam. Cut off a small portion of the long sides and roll gently, keeping the paper under the hands while rolling. Leave on the paper till cold, dust with a little more sugar, and serve.

The mixture may be baked in two tins for a sandwich. If baked in the two flan tins a delicious filling may be made by using a pint jelly square and a small tin of fruit. Melt the jelly making up the pint with the syrup from the fruit. Allow the jelly to begin to set, and then put a little into each flan case. Divide the fruit between the two, and spread the remaining jelly over the fruit. Put into a cool place till it is firm and serve with or without cream.

By adding one and a half ounces of creamed butter to the mixture and putting teaspoon portions into finger-biscuit tins, three dozen sponge fingers may be made from this quantity. Bake them for six minutes. All these cakes are easily digested, nourishing, and appetising, and are specially suitable for invalids.

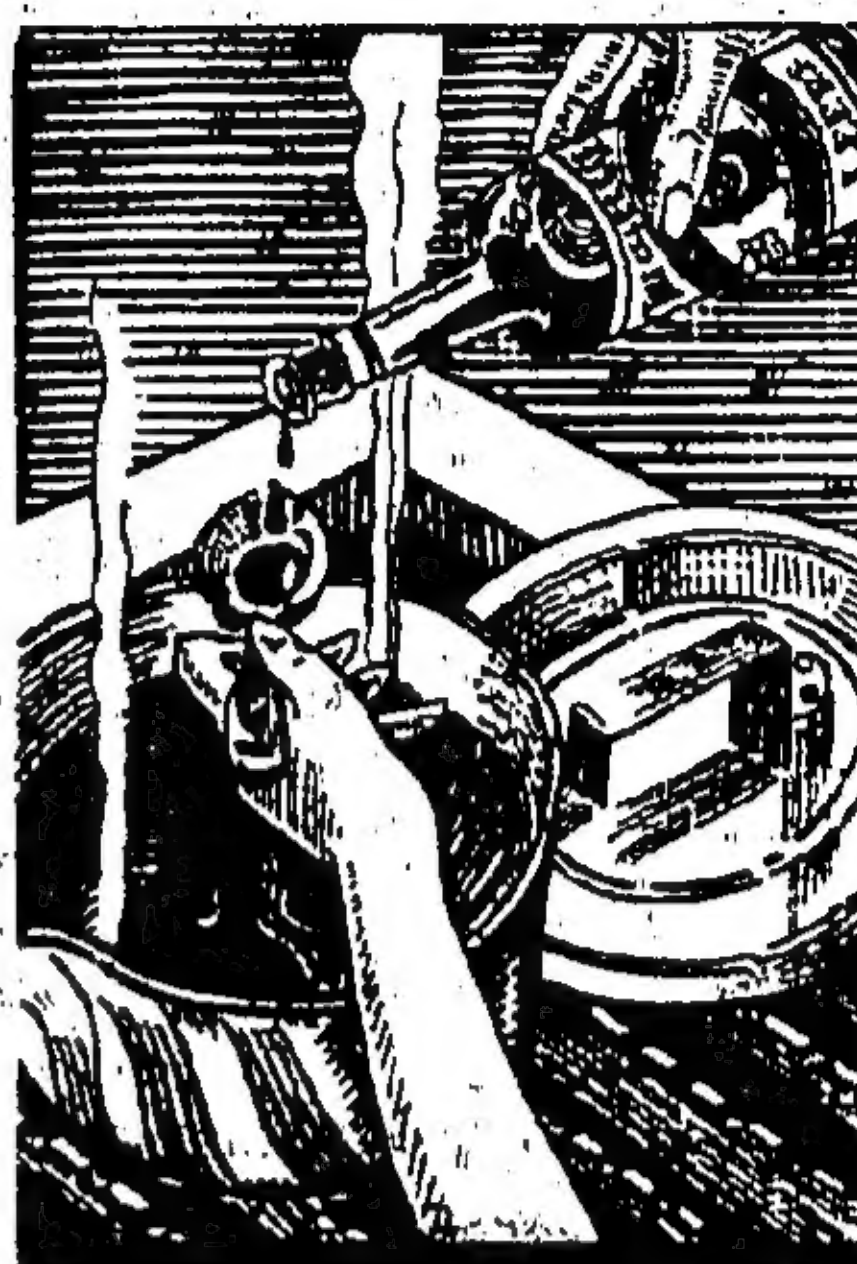

Gelatin Desserts

Pineapple Punch

- Ingredients.—1 small pineapple
- 4 tea-cups cold water, 1 tea-cup granulated sugar, 2 large yellow limes, 1 sweet orange, iced, or soda water.

Method.—Peel the pineapple and grate the pulp, avoiding the core. Grate it on to a plate, so as to save the juice. Measure into a jug, 2 breakfasts of grated pineapple, also the juice which has gathered on the plate. Measure sugar and water into a small aluminium pan, and dissolve slowly over gentle heat. Add orange and lime juice. Mix and strain. Dilute with iced, or soda water, and float pieces of pineapple on top.

Aylesbury Sherbet

- Ingredients.—1 oz. citric acid, 25 drops oil of lemon, 2 lbs. granulated sugar, 4 tea-cups boiling water.

Method.—Mix well together the citric acid, and oil of lemon (essence of lemon would do, but double the quantity is necessary). Dissolve the sugar in the boiling water, boil briskly for five minutes, then add the acid mixture. Stir well, bottle and cork. Two table-spoons to a tumbler of water, a level tea-spoon carbonate of soda. If poured into clean, dry, warm bottles, then tightly corked, and stored in a cool place, this sherbet will keep good for months even in the Low-country.

Savory Chicken Stew

- One good sized fowl weighing about 4 pounds, 2 slices bacon, 2 cup canned tomatoes, 1-2 cup canned or fresh mushrooms, 1 cup canned corn, 1 cup canned lima beans, 1-2 cup stoned and minced ripe olives, 1 cup water, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1-2 teaspoon sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 whole cloves, peppercorns.

Disjoint fowl and cut larger pieces in two. Cut bacon in small pieces and fry out fat in saucepan. Add pieces of fowl and brown quickly. Tie cloves and peppercorns in a small piece of cheesecloth and crush slightly. Add with tomatoes, water, vinegar, salt, pepper and sugar to chicken in saucepan. Cover closely and simmer over a low fire for three hours. Add vegetable and mushrooms half an hour before serving. Remove bag of spices and serve on a hot platter.

Iced Drinks Plain and Good

Anything iced is welcome when the thermometer is high and provided the ice is obtainable, the following simple and refreshing drinks can be produced easily in the home kitchen.

Iced Tea

Make an infusion of China tea in a warmed pot, using a pint of boiling water to a dessertspoonful of tea. Leave for three or four minutes and then strain into a jug, stirring in milk and sugar to taste. Place the jug in a basin, pack ice round it, and leave for an hour or more before using. A quicker way, though not such a good one, is to place a large piece of ice in a jug, pour the cooled tea over this, and add milk and sugar to taste before using.

Iced Tea With Lemon

Make an infusion of China tea and strain it into a jug, adding sugar to taste and some thin slices of lemon. Pack ice round the jug, and strain the tea into tumblers as soon as it is cold enough. Serve with fresh slices of lemon floating on the top.

Iced Coffee

Pour a pint of boiling water on to two table-spoons of freshly ground coffee to which a pinch of salt has been added. Give a good stir round and leave for the grounds to settle. Then strain into a clean jug, add an equal quantity of milk with sugar to taste, and leave with ice packed round it till cold enough to use.

A Grape Drink

Press some ripe grapes on a sieve with a wooden spoon, and take the juice obtained with similar quantities of strained orange and lemon juice. Sweeten to taste, dilute with iced water, and serve in tumblers containing shaved ice.

A Lemon Drink

Dissolve two or three lumps of sugar in half a breakfastcupful of water, add the strained juice of a lemon, and combine with an egg white that has been beaten with a pinch of salt till just frothy. Put a few small pieces of ice into a tumbler, strain the drink on to them, and use.

Frequent Use Of Carrots Aids Both Beauty and Health

We often hear that carrots are "good for the complexion," but seldom stop to reason why. However, food chemists have investigated and experimented and have made available a quantity of data explaining just why carrots are so valuable from a health standpoint.

Some authorities tell us that, next to onions carrots are the most efficient blood-purifiers among the vegetables. Also, they rank next to spinach in iron content. Two reasons for clear complexions and sparkling eyes! Moreover, vitamin A is found in carrots. This puts carrots in the list of foods, with cod-liver oil, butter fat, egg yolk and the leaves of green vegetables. Please remember, however, that an enormous amount of carrots would have to be eaten to supply the equivalent of the vitamin A found in a table-spoonful of cod-liver oil.

In order to gain the most benefit from the vegetables as a beautifier, it should be eaten raw. Then there is no loss of vitamins B and C. Both these vitamins are some what affected by careless cooking and there is apt to be loss of mineral.

Add Colour

Carrots straws add a charming bit of colour to a tray of relishes. Grated raw carrot is good in any vegetable salad. Rings of carrot filled with highly seasoned cream cheese make attractive appetizers. In making carrot rings you need not worry about sacrificing much food value for the chemists tell us that the watery, pale-colored center of the carrot contains practically none of the valuable substances found in the rich golden flesh.

The cheapness of carrots puts within the reach of every family these food elements which are essential to growth health and vigor. Strong muscles, red blood, sound teeth, firm flesh, straight bones, glossy hair and clear skin are the result when vitamins and minerals are plentiful in the diet.

You can use carrots as a "stretcher" with more expensive vegetables. Carrots and peas, creamed cauliflower in a border of buttered carrots, asparagus with carrot sticks—almost any vegetable combines well with the colourful carrot. A vegetable loaf uses carrots to advantage when meat is off the menu.

Vegetable Loaf

Five good sized carrots or ten new carrots, 2 medium sized onions, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 cup chopped celery, 1 to 2 cups dried bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Scrape carrots and peel onions. Put through the coarse knife of food chopper. The parsley and celery can be chopped in the food chopper, too. Put vegetables into sauce pan and stew with as little water as possible until tender. The water should cook away so there isn't more than one or two table-spoons over the vegetables when done. Add bread crumbs, butter and eggs unbeaten. Mix well and season with salt and pepper. Form into a loaf, roll in crumbs and dot with bits of butter. Bake on a well buttered baking sheet for 20 minutes in a hot oven. Serve with a rich cream sauce.

A Discovery

Strolling along the quays of New York harbour, an Irishman came across the wooden barricade which is placed around the enclosure where immigrants suspected of suffering from contagious disease are isolated.

"Phwat's this boarding for?" he inquired of a bystander.

"Oh," was the reply, "that's to keep out fever and things like that, you know."

"Indeed!" said Pat. "O've often heard of the Board 'Health, but it's the first time O've seen it."

"THE WAY TO LOVE"

Chevalier At His Best

Something brand new under the film musical sun. "rhythmic photography" features the opening of Maurice Chevalier's "The Way to Love," which is coming on Friday to the King's Theatre.

For the first five minutes of the first reel, characters, settings, voices and natural actions, move rhythmically to the fitting tunes of "I'm a Lover of Páree," a song mirroring the discontent of the average person.

Beginning with an operatic piece sung by a Paris street singer, twenty characters—fisherman, et al—flash on the screen and fade out in a unique phantasmagoria of musical and camera tricks.

Ralph Rainger, author of "Mountain Low" and other popular song hits wrote the music and Leo Robin the lyrics for this unusual opening.

"The Way to Love" is a story of Paris; a romance between a tourist guide and a street gamine, played by Maurice Chevalier and Ann Dvorak, respectively. Others in the cast are Edward Everett Horton, Minna Gombell, Blandine Frederici, Nyrla Westman and Grace Bradley. It was directed by Norman Taurog.

ESCAPE FROM JAIL

To Save Fellow Ranchers

Kent Taylor, Loná Andre, Irving Pichel, Gail Patrick and Warren Hymer play the leading roles in Zane Grey's "The Mysterious Rider," an action-romance of the West, which opens to-morrow at the Alhambra Theatre.

Taylor play the role of a hard-riding, straight-shooting, lariat-swinging rancher, devoted to his land and respected by his neighbors whose leader he is. When Pichel, an unscrupulous lawyer, discovers that the valuable land in the valley has never been legally transferred to its present owners, and buys the original grant, it is Taylor who is entrusted with the money the ranchers raise to legalize their claim.

But when Pichel learns that a powerful financier will give him more money for the claim, he craftily accepts Taylor's funds and contrives to make it appear that the latter has absconded with them. Taylor is tossed into jail, but he escapes to risk his own life in saving his fellow-ranchers.

London, June 20.

The White City at Shepherd's Bush spends so much of the year looking like a white elephant that no one can be surprised to hear that the whole of the area it occupies with the exception of the stadium is to be available for building development. There is no hasty desire to sell the exhibition buildings which are at present a good source of income, though no doubt in the next few years the eighty-four acres will be covered by blocks of flats.

The first portion, which will be offered within a few days, is a site of fourteen and a half acres at the north-west corner, well served by buses and trams and Underground. The land is too valuable to be used for factories and the idea is that comfortable but not too expensive blocks of flats should be built there over flats. Builders seem still convinced that there is an endless demand for blocks of flats in West London. They are beginning to dominate High Street, Kensington, and to-day a new block of flats, said to be the largest block in Europe, was formally opened, Latimer Court, on Hammersmith Road, facing St. Paul's school.

Since 1908 when the Franco-British exhibition began its series of great exhibitions the White City has had an intermittently lively history. In 1914 it was taken over for the use of troops, then it became a munition and stores centre; one section was used for the manufacture of army tents, and now every year the Queen walks past its miles of stalls admiring the British industries displays.

"MY WEAKNESS"
At The Oriental

Lillian Harvey, the toast of the Continent, comes to the Oriental Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in the Fox production, "My Weakness." The Fox studios have selected none other than Lew Ayres as her leading man.

The film, a Buddy De Sylva production, will reveal the latest of trends in smart motion picture plays that have music and feminine beauty among their principal elements. The story is by Mr. De Sylva who will be remembered as the lyricist of some of the world's most popular song hits. The music, from the combined pens of De Sylva, Leo Robin and Richard Whiting, is among the most brilliant recently produced.

The cast in support of Miss Harvey and Ayres includes many notable figures of the stage and screen. Among these are Charles

WHAT THE STARS ARE WEARING

Petite Isabel Jewell, charming blonde Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, believes that yellow tones are most effective for the woman with light hair. She proves her point with a new spring ensemble in pale gold tweed, designed with a short fitted jacket, trimmed with a collar of lynx fur to form a contrast. The costume is worn with dark accessories.

Will the charming, feminine fashions of the American Civil War return for next season? When the fashion world sees the costumes that Marion Davies wears in her new film, "Operator 13," it is predicted many of the lovely details will be copied. The lacy jabots, the soft full lingerie cuffs, on rich fabrics, the dashing hats may be looked for in modernized versions.

Jean Harlow chooses her new spring evening ensemble in heavy white crepe. Her fitted frock drapes high about the throat in front and falls almost to the waistline at back in the new cowl drape. The gown is completed with an unusual formal train of white silk fringe, the same fringe used to make a graceful, swaying evening cape that falls to the hipline.

Huge polka dots on evening frocks for spring are dashing new. Vivacious Lupe Velez introduced the vogue with a formal evening frock of white chiffon, with huge 'dollar dots' of sable brown, to chiffon mould her figure closely to swirl into a bouffant train at the feet. Over this frock Lupe wore a gorgeous evening coat of sable, in the same brown as the dots of her frock.

"ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON"

In The Days Of The Victorias

Some idea of the cultural and economic life of a small Mid-West town in the odd and unusual props used in Paramount's "One Sunday Afternoon," showing at the King's Theatre, with Gary Cooper in the starring role, and Fay Wray, Neil Hamilton, Frances Fuller and Roscoe Karns in the featured cast.

Of chief interest are the vehicles in use before the automobile. These include surreys, buggies, hacks, buckboards, victorias, phaetons, tallies, dog-carts and bull-wagons.

Other "props" strange to the modern notion include the earliest types of automobiles, copper-bottom wash boilers, hickory chairs with rawhide bottoms, camel back trunks, porcelain dishes, tandem bicycles, coal-oil lamps, "eight day" watches, stereoscopes, Edison graphophones, velvet-covered picture frames.

The film, adapted from the Broadway stage hit of the same name, was written by James Hagan. It revolves around a small town dentist, played by Gary Cooper, who has spent a life-time yearning for a former sweetheart who married another.

However, after twenty years, the clinging vine beauty reappears in the town where Gary is a successful dentist. What happens then, and how through her returning Gary is made to realize the fine qualities of his own pretty wife, gives a splendid, heart-touching finish to the picture.

Williams Slavens, McNutt, and Grover Jones, who have written some of Paramount's most successful hits, did the screen play.

HERITAGE OF THE DESERT

Western Thriller At The Alhambra

Action rode fast and furious across the screen of the Alhambra Theatre yesterday where "Heritage of the Desert," the latest film from the pen of Zane Grey, began an engagement.

It's a Western in the old manner, with all the excitement of the hard-riding films of the silent days, but with the added advantages of present-day technique. In short, it's extraordinary thrilling entertainment.

There's a long, tall stranger in the leading role who is going to be heard from many more times before his career in pictures is ended. His name is Randolph Scott and he has all the qualifications of a popular leading man.

Scott has the role of Jack Hare, young surveyor from the east and tenderfoot. Employed by old Adam Naab to check up on the boundaries of the Naab land, he steps into the midst of a bitter feud between Naab and a notorious cattle rustler, and his gang are either captured or dead.

The other roles of the film are in the able hands of Sally Blane as Judy, Naab's ward, David Landau as Holderness, the rustler; Gordon Westcott as Snap, Naab's weaking son, and Vince Barnett as Windy, veteran cowboy and man-of-all-work on the Naab ranch. They and the director deserve full credit for making the film the consistently entertaining comedy melodrama that it is.

ECHOES OF 1861

30—Mr. Daniel Richard Caldwell

We really are convinced that for lack of shame, for disregard to the opinions of his fellow men, Mr. Daniel Richard Caldwell stands unrivalled. In the first place, upon hearing that an investigation into his conduct would take place, he threw himself into the arms of the Council, begging that they would summon all the editors of the local press to come forward and do their worst. He then insisted that no one could assail the public abuses of the colony without being guilty of personal malevolence towards himself, which certainly is about as contemptible a piece of vanity as we have ever heard of. Yet so far did he carry this absurd whim that when he had worn the Council out, he told them to their faces that their judgment was simple malevolence also. On the 3rd December, at the 17th sitting he was called upon for his defence. He cited a number of witnesses, the partner of his piratical associate in disguise, the pirate's wife, a servant woman, the pirate's purser and others of the fraternity, every one of whom was caught tripping and made matters far worse. The evidence falling him, he dodged and wriggled and turned simply to put off the evil day, apparently under the same conviction as the hangers-on in Barnaby Rudge, namely the Government would never hang Jack Ketch; until all this impotent sparring failing for any purpose except the waste of time, he was cornered. Then, like a rat, he flew in his purser's face; convict testimony did not suit him—his veracious witnesses could not be contaminated by being confronted with felons—the should, would, and did, resign—he would, when independent of government, add out of their employ, defend himself; not that he supposed for one moment that his defence would weigh a feather in the minds of the prejudiced and malevolent Council, but still he "begged as a great favour" that the defence might be placed upon the minutes so that he might set himself right with the public. He should appeal to the Press. He would send in his defence at his early convenience. Having other occupation he could not possibly resume his office.

Around the Courts

GAMBLING RAIDS

When the police raided No. 41 Graham Street, where a "pat kau" game was in progress, they arrested fifteen men and seized $23.40 table money. The money was ordered by Mr. Macfadyen to be placed in the Poor Box while the keeper of the "school" was fined $50. Thirteen of those arrested had their bail of $3 each created while the fourteenth man who appeared in Court was fined $3.

Eleven Chinese were arrested in a raid on Queen's Building on Tuesday when the police picked up $2.40 table money which was also devoted to the Poor Box. Three of the arrested men appeared and were fined $3 each, while the absentees forfeited their bail of $3 each.

MAGISTRATE'S STATEMENT

Following an announcement made by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistrate's recently in connection with the increase of fines for offences against the regulations under the Dogs Ordinance, Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Magistrate's yesterday stated:

With reference to offences against the Dogs Ordinance, fines generally will be raised to $10 as from July 1. In cases where the Court is satisfied that the dog was at large in a public place, and was a source of danger to the public, the minimum fine will be $25.

Ching Wa-ching, an unemployed Chinese has reported to the Police that he was bitten on Saturday near the Western Market by a dog which has not yet been traced. The man has entered the Government Civil Hospital for treatment.

Summoned for possession of a wireless receiving set without a licence, Dr. Cheung Chin-fan of No. 49 Bonham Road, second floor was yesterday fined $10 by Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistrate's. Defendant said that owing to pressure of work in hospital he forgot to take out a licence.

VOLUNTEERS TAKE MANCHU TOWN

Defenders Disarmed After A Fard Fight

Chientzu, June 29.

A contingent of the China National Salvation Corps to-day captured the town of Latzekow, in Kirin Province, after a hard-fought battle with soldiers of the Manchukuo Garrison, and members of the police force there, according to reports reaching here to-day.

The Chinese volunteers, numbering only about 1,000 began their attack upon the defenders on Wednesday night. The Manchukuo soldiers put up strong resistance but were defeated and disarmed early yesterday morning.

The Japanese Army is planning to lead a contingent of Manchukuo soldiers to exterminate the attackers, it was announced here to-day.—United Press.

MANCHOUKUO RIVER DEFENCE FLEET

One hundred and twenty young Manchus between the ages of 17 and 21, will be recruited for the Manchukuo River Defence Fleet, the Department of Defence has announced. Examinations will be held at the headquarters of the River Defence Fleet in Harbin, the Department of Defence in Changchun and the Central Military Training School in Mukden, August 5 and 6. The successful candidates will be trained for several months at the headquarters of the Fleet in Harbin, after which the sailors will be sent to the Naval barracks. Officers will enter the Merchant Navigation School in Tokyo for further training, it was added.

railway messenger. The two latter are seriously injured but the other four were not detained by the hospital after first aid had been given them.

The train consisted of seven coaches, of which the first six came along the platform as usual. It is believed however, that the switch points were loose and that they swung over before the end bogies of the last coach reached them. The last coach, on hitting the switch jumped the track and crashed straight into the platform, causing the injuries mentioned above. The coach itself was very considerably damaged.

Railway wrecking gang went to work immediately and within a few minutes had the debris cleared away. There was no interruption in normal services.

LOCAL AMERICANS CELEBRATE

"The Glorious Fourth"

"The Glorious Fourth," America's Day of Independence was celebrated by over three hundred Americans and their guests at a reception held at the American Club yesterday and at which Mr. Louis R. Gourley, Acting United States Consul General acted as host.

Proposing the health of His Majesty the King, Mr. Gourley said: "The last time many of us met in these Club rooms was to say 'farewell' to Consul-General Jenkins. Perhaps no one here misses him more than those of us who had the pleasure of working with him in the same office. I especially regret that he slipped out of the harbour on the morning of the Fourth of July. Speech-making is not fun. After Mr. Jenkins' talks, I feel as a little bell might feel which must tinkle after London's Big Ben has sounded. (Laughter.)

"I shall say only a few words. Probably the less I talk the less I shall be found out. It does not pay to say too much. An Irish-American found that out when he took his best girl for a motor car ride. After they had gone some distance, he finally said 'Bridget, will you marry me?' 'Sure, Pat, I will.' They rode on. Nothing more was said for some five minutes. Then ten minutes. Bridget said 'Aren't you going to say anything more to me?' and Pat replied 'Perhaps, Bridget, I have said too much already.' (Laughter.)

On our national holiday we Americans do not celebrate any victory over the British. We commemorate to-day the signature of a declaration of human rights of the same general type for which the English barons struggled at Runnymede.

In England, the American colonies, and France, the great struggles against oppression have all occurred in hot weather. (Laughter.)

In the summer of 1215 the English barons got warmed up about their rights; in the summer of 1776 the American colonists became heated about their liberties; and in the summer of 1834 the inhabitants of Hong Kong exchanged hot words about women's shorts and long. (Laughter.)

Back in 1215 at Runnymede, the angry barons went into King John's very presence and extorted from him the Magna Carta. He knew they meant business because he could see them. (Laughter.)

In 1776, in the days of the slow sailing vessels that took many weeks and even months to cross the seas, the protests of the American colonists sounded to many persons in England as unimportant as the buzzing of petty insects. Distance and slow communication led to misunderstanding.

To-day, rapid communication brings the great English speaking nations ever closer and closer together. The American talks and the English news reels are teaching us to understand one another. When I walk the streets of Hong Kong, I hear people say "Come up and see me sometime" (loud laughter). It can be English-English but it may be West-ern American (laughter).

Most Englishmen know that no animals are being traded, when an American wife passed the buck to her husband and gets his goat (laughter). Few Americans to-day are like one American woman who read in the papers that an Englishwoman had lost three hundred pounds in one afternoon at a place she pronounced Derby. "Fakes diffel! I don't believe any woman could be so fat." (Laughter.)

Through the news reel we see the English Royal Family and hear them speak. We feel that we know them and that they are friends. Some time ago, through-out America we read with sympathetic interest reports about the King's illness and rejoiced at his almost miraculous recovery. To-day through radio broadcasting, Britons and Americans have come actually within hearing of one another's voices. Voices of the English Royal Family are becoming as familiar to the farmers of the Dakotas as the voices of their nearest neighbours. With radio thousands and even millions of Americans can now have an audience with His Majesty, the King, and yet not suffer the expense of discomfort of knee breeches (laughter).

"And the Gentlemen—His Majesty the King."

D. B. S. MAGAZINE

Suggestions For A Name Required

Practically every big school in the Colony can now boast a magazine of its own, and one of the latest to fall into line, is the Diocesan Boys' School whose magazine has just made its appearance. It is a very informative volume, which should prove of great interest to friends and former pupils of the school.

The editor in his opening article writes:—

"Our school is recognised as one of the leading ones of the Colony, with an honourable past and a hopeful future. Such a school ought to have a school magazine and it is owing to this conviction that we launch the first number of a new series. Attempts have been made before to have one and we do not know why they were discontinued, as this will be volume two, number one.

"As far as possible everything has been contributed by scholars themselves. The enthusiasm on all sides and the number of contributions received have been remarkable. Various names have been suggested, but none have really been suitable, so the present title will remain until something is suggested really worthy of the D.B.S. Hong Kong and China."

Not Quite Happy

Little Tommy was in a rebellious mood. "I don't want my face washed, Granny," he pouted impatiently.

"Nonsense," said Granny, rather severely. "Why, I've washed my face three times a day ever since I was a little girl."

"Yes," said Tommy, "and I'm shrunk so bad that now it wants to be ironed out."

THE CHINESE CHAMBER

Monthly Committee Meeting

The Chinese General Chamber of Commerce held its monthly committee meeting yesterday afternoon at the Chamber's Headquarters, when the Chairman reviewed the events, business and correspondence of the previous months and the Secretary presented the accounts for adoption.

Owing to the indisposition of the Chairman Mr. Wong Kwong Tin, the Vice-Chairman Mr. Lee Sing Kui took the chair.

Among those present were Mr. Lee Sing Kui (Chairman), Mr. Lui Yam Shuen (Treasurer), Mr. Chan Ping Au (Secretary), Messrs. Tang Shiu Kin, Chow Tung Sang, Mok Kon Sang, Jackman To, Mok Lin, Kan Tat Chee, Mok Hon Po, Chung Kit Hing, Ching Ming Yue, Yue Chuck Sang, Chiu Kwok Hing, Yung Koon Man, Chan Kim Tong, Chan Shiu Ming, Chiu Chiu Fan, Chung Chi Nam, Chu Pik Tung, Au Chak Sum, Chow Shing Chi, Chan Kam Por, So Chuck, Lau Ngok Fan, Chung Wai Lam and many others.

Agents Wanted

After the accounts had been passed in the usual manner, the Secretary informed the meeting that during the last few weeks, a manufacturing firm from Holland had sent a letter to the Chamber requesting them to find reliable agents for their handkerchiefs, towels, pyjamas, ties and textiles goods.

Another American firm also applied to the Chamber asking them to recommend good and influential Chinese dealers and representatives for their different qualities of leather, which is used in the manufacture of boots, shoes, slippers, handbags and other leather goods.

Several other firms from different countries also applied to the Chamber to recommend good markets for their products. It was stated that replies to the above mentioned requests had already been sent.

Trade Investigation

Referring to the enquiry of the British Trade Commission about the proposed visit of the Chinese Trade Investigation Party to Australia, the Secretary announced that the party is already being organized, and would leave Hong Kong at a convenient date.

Concerning the letter sent by the Advertising and Publicity Bureau Limited, informing the Chamber that Mr. J. G. Latham, an Australian Deputy Trade Commissioner, who is now acting as a Government Trade Representative, would soon be returning to Australia via Hong Kong, and suggesting that he be welcomed by the local Chinese merchants on arrival in Hong Kong, the Secretary said that arrangements for the friendly welcome are now under consideration.

Petition Fails

With regard to the petition of the Tung Tak Wheeled-Lorry Association, requesting the Secretary of Chinese Affairs to continue to issue the licenses to the wheeled-lorry owners, the Secretary announced that a reply had been sent to the Chamber by the Secretary of Chinese Affairs saying that the issue of licenses of wheeled-lorries could not be continued.

During the meeting, the Secretary said that the Chamber had received a letter from the Hong Kong General Chamber of Commerce, informing them that a party of Philippine merchants, who were at present visiting Amoy, would be shortly returning to Manila via Hong Kong, and requesting the Chamber to recommend the local leading Chinese industrial establishments for their inspection on arrival. This matter had already been agreed to.

Price of Dollars

As to the proposed suggestion made by Mr. Chan Kim Tong, one of the members of the Chamber, for the regulating the price of silver dollars, the Secretary told the meeting that the suggestions had been favourably received and would be acted upon, when the time is opportune.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the Secretary declared that during the last two months, several new members from different firms and manufacturers had applied to the Chamber for membership. This matter was passed unanimously by those who were present.

A Perfectly Safe Structure

SHANGHAI EXPERT'S OPINION OF GASHOLDER

Mr. W. J. Baker In Witness Box: Houses Too Near Gas Works

Mr. W. J. Baker, chief engineer of the Shanghai Gasworks was another expert witness called to give evidence at the sixteenth hearing at Central Magistracy yesterday of the West Point Gas Explosion disaster.

He said that the holder was a very safe structure, and that the disaster was not caused in any way by an explosion in the watchmen's hut. The houses in Chung Shing Street were definitely too near the holder and Clarence Terrace too high, and he was sure that the Shanghai authorities would not have allowed any holder to be built in such surroundings.

Before adjourning the enquiry, the Coroner remarked that it would probably be concluded this afternoon when he would deliver his summing-up. The jury's verdict would probably be given on Friday afternoon.

Mr. E. W. Hamilton sat as Coroner, assisted by a jury comprised of Messrs. F. Tester (foreman), Mr. L. Dunbar and Mr. D. Drummond.

Mr. W. A. Mackinlay, of Messrs. Deacons, appeared for the Hong Kong and China Gas Co., Ltd., the owners of the holder, and Mr. W. M. Brown, of Messrs. Hastings and Co. watched the proceedings on behalf of certain property owners whose property was damaged by the explosion.

No Recommendations Forthcoming

Continuing his evidence from the previous hearing, Mr. G. S. Graver of the Drainage Office, Public Works Department, said that since the last sitting he had made subsequent investigations and found that the man-cover was actually in Clarence Street and not opposite No. 2 and 4, Clarence Terrace.

He thought it possible that if an explosion took place over this small section, the gas might have got down the three gratings from the nullah itself. He did not, however, think the gas collected there could cause an explosion as the drain was absolutely dry. There was no damage to the man-hole itself nor the cover and drain.

Poon Sap, formerly of 13, Chung Shing Street, first floor, said that on the morning of the disaster, she was in the "tang" (sitting room) when she heard a "boom." She then saw clouds of black smoke coming into the house. She did not notice whether the sound occurred in the house or outside as she was too frightened. The house was not on fire before she heard the sound.

MR. W. J. BAKER

Before calling Mr. W. J. Baker to give expert evidence, Mr. Mackinlay informed the Coroner that regarding the question of "internal inspection," Mr. Stone had cabled to the Secretary of the Gas Institute, London, who is responsible for the recommendation. He then tendered the cable to the Coroner who remarked that it was rather interesting and he would put the cable in as evidence later.

Mr. William James Baker was then called. He said he was the chief engineer of the Shanghai Gasworks, Ltd., the same position. Mr. Stone held in Hong Kong. He had seven years practical experience in England before going to Shanghai to take charge of the Gaswork there in 1931.

He was a Chartered Gas Engineer, a Member of the Institute of Gas Engineers and an Associate Member of the Institute of Chemical Engineers. He had quite extensive experience in gas. He had seen four gas tanks erected and had been responsible for the result.

He made an examination of the holder here and found internal corrosion on the south-west side rather more than any other part. None of it was excessively corroded, and the holder itself was in perfectly good condition. He had seen the plates and none of them appeared to him to be excessively corroded. The sheet which was considered as the one which collapsed, still had an appreciable quantity of metal left on it. The weight of that sheet was 24 lbs., and its area was approximately 13 square feet. That gave an average thickness of 1/20 of an inch after distortion and buckling. The other plates on the holder were definitely not excessively corroded. The thickness of 1/10 of an inch on the plate was of normal practice from the designer's point of view. Actually a plate of 1/80 of an inch thick was ample to form a safe structure; consequently the margin of practical safety allowed in this case was 8-1.

The patches on the side sheetings were externally good, the patching being rather stronger than the usual practice. The holders in Shanghai had a great many more patches. From the point of attention regarding the supervision of the patching of the plates externally, the quantity of patches rather indicated that the holder did receive and had received in the past very regular and careful inspection.

The Curb Girder.

Referring to the curb girder, Mr. Baker said that it was a point where the crown sheets and the side sheetings met. In designing a holder the curb girder was made entirely on its own to stand all load and pressure which came on it. The crown trusses and the vertical stays or joists would not affect the strength of the curb girder in any way. It was quite possible to remove that crown trussing, and the holder would still work satisfactorily. It would still be a safe structure while inflated with gas. When deflated, of course, the crown would fall and buckle inwards.

"My main point there," said Mr. Baker, "is that the crown trussing and the vertical stays did not affect the strength of the curb girder."

Mr. Baker then went on to say that the other point on the construction side was that the vertical stays connected the top girder to the "cup" which was on the bottom of the lift. Their function was to prevent the sheets from going inwards under wind pressure. Quite a number of the vertical stays were corroded at the joint with the curb girder. The present sectional area of the vertical girder had their weakest part 2 1/2 sq. inch approximately. They were capable of withstanding the tensional load of 16 tons.

"I consider they are quite strong enough to do the job they are intended to do in their present condition."

Referring to the deflection of the vertical stays, Mr. Baker said it was due to buckling. With regard to the deflection of the "H" girders, it varied between 1/4 and 3/8 of an inch on a length of 25 feet. He thought that probably happened when the lift crashed or it might have been in the girder when it was originally erected.

Coroner: Not much of a complaint to the gentleman who erected it.

Exceptionally Good Plating

Continuing, Mr. Baker said he could not agree with Mr. J. G. Charlton that the buckling of the girder produced an extra strain on the crown. The buckling of the "H" girder and the vertical stays was very slight and it might have happened as it struck the tank when it came down.

By a process of elimination, he arrived at the fact that something hit the holder from Clarence Terrace and it must have hit it with very powerful force.

"I think I am certain of this," said Mr. Baker, "and that is, that this smash was not caused in any way by an explosion in the watchmen's hut. Any explosion taking place in there must have been of a very very minor puff—the results do not indicate that there was an explosion of very intense force otherwise the watchmen would not have been found in the yard."

Coroner: The minor explosion might have shaken off one or two of the plates?

Mr. Baker: I don't think so. In reply to a further question regarding the 18 inch seam, Mr. Baker said that he had seen it but in his opinion the actual split would not have been noticed when the holder was inflated. When the rivets were pulled out the plates would not have sprung as after 24, 15 or 10 years of work the plates would take a permanent set, and he was quite sure that when the rivets were pulled out, the plates would not part. When making riveting joists on this holder, red lead putty was used and that formed the joint between the two plates. After the red lead putty in the joint had been in position for ten years it would be easy to rick it out with a sharp knife.

In answer to the Coroner, Mr. Baker said that the plating on the windward side was exceptionally good for a 25-year old holder.

Very few holders were internally examined in 30 years.

Coroner: It is not a custom of gas engineers to examine holders internally?

Mr. Baker: No. I consider it is very safe without internal examination provided the holders are externally inspected periodically. Very excessive corrosion would be noticed by an external inspection.

In reply to a further question, Mr. Baker said he did not know that the plates of this holder were as bad as to be put through by a pencil.

Coroner: If you were called to examine the holder before the explosion, would you recommend anything?—I doubt whether you would have noticed the pitted condition two months ago. The shock of the smash had shaken away quite a lot of metal and paint. The main point in his mind was that the holder was a perfectly safe structure with very slight sheeting. The only idea of having thick sheeting was to guard against corrosion and not to prevent corrosion.

Coroner: You mentioned that the plates were not excessively corroded, would you say that they could resist a typhoon?—Yes.

The Coroner then remarked that according to Mr. Baker a missile from Clarence Terrace had probably caused the disaster whereas the holder in Wanchai was pierced by a rock during blasting operations some years ago and nothing happened.

Mr. Baker replied that in Shanghai, revolver shots had been fired at a holder and they did not go through.

Continuing, Mr. Baker said that the fire might have been caused by a spark through the friction of the holder coming down, so suddenly.

Coroner: About the houses in Chung Shing Street, you think it is safe to be so near the holder?—Chung Shing Street is definitely too near.

Have you any houses in Shanghai so near as that?—Only our offices.

Can you suggest any recommendation?—I cannot. As far as Clarence Terrace is concerned, this is also rather unfortunate. It is so much higher than the holder.

Coroner: Clarence Terrace of course was in existence before the holder was built.

Mr. Baker: I am quite sure the Shanghai authorities would not allow us to build the holders so near to the houses.

You cannot suggest anything to make it safer?—No, I cannot.

In answer to the jury, Mr. Baker said that it was quite usual to have naked lights in the yard. The enquiry was then adjourned until this afternoon.

CHINA SUBMARINE COMMAND

Captain C. G. B. Coltart, at present Chief Staff Officer to the Rear-Admiral of Submarines at Gosport, is appointed in to-day's list to command the 4th Submarine Flotilla, China Station, the largest in the service. It includes 12 submarines of post-war types, with the new depotship Medway, completed in 1929, as parent ship. The present C.O. is Captain Allan Poland, D.S.O.

Captain Coltart has been in submarines for over 22 years, and much of his time has already been spent in China. He commanded C 38 on this station before the War, but most of his active service during hostilities was in the North Sea, and at the time of the Armistice he was in command of L 20, which he took out to Hong Kong in 1919. In 1925-27 he commanded the Marathon, tender to the 4th Submarine Flotilla, China, and subsequently he commanded the Allecto, Lucia, and Cyclops, and the submarines attached to them at Portsmouth, in the Home Fleet, and in the Mediterranean. In 1931-32, until promoted to captain, he was in the Operations Division, at the Admiralty.

SALUTING NATIONAL ANTHEM
In future all officers and ratings of the Navy, whether ashore or on board, are to salute, if wearing head dress, at "Colours" or when a National Anthem is played, unless they are fallen in, when they will be called to attention, the officer or rating in charge alone saluting.

This is the effect of an amendment to Article 153 in King's Regulations and Admiralty Instructions, announced in Admiralty Fleet Orders yesterday. Article 154, it is stated, has been amended so as to remove any impression that a different procedure is required of ratings ashore; according to whether singly or in parties, should salute officers on all occasions unless they are in an organised party under the orders of an officer or rating.

NEW FLEET AIRCRAFT

Of the two new flights which are to be formed this year for the Fleet Air Arm, one is expected to be sent to the Mediterranean for duty in the battleships and cruisers on that station. At present there is only one flight so employed, No. 447, composed of Fairey III F machines, and these are allotted to one battleship, the Royal Sovereign, and four cruisers, the London, Devonshire, Shropshire, and Sussex. The second of the two new flights is to provide aircraft for the cruisers of the 1931 and 1932 programmes, the Ajax, Amphion, Arethusa, Apollo, Phaeton, and Galatea.

ASSISTANT NAVAL ATTACHE

Commander (E.) A. I. P. Mark-Wardlaw, who has been appointed Assistant Naval Attache at Washington, was until recently Fleet Engineer Officer on the Africa Station. His career is of special interest as he was the first Osborne-trained cadet to specialise in engineering and the first

VICIOUS BUT NOT RABID

Dog Shot in Tak Shing Street

On June 24, a chow dog which bit two people in Tak Shing Street, Hong Kong was shot by the Police as the animal could not be captured.

Subsequent examination of the animal reveals the fact that the animal was merely vicious and was not in any way rabid.

To complete the advanced engineering course at Greenwich, in June, 1925, he was the first to be promoted to commander (E.). He is one of the very few officers who have discharged both executive and engineering duties and commanded a ship. Before specialising in engineering, he was sub-lieutenant of the Minotaur and first lieutenant in a China gunboat. During the War he was on engineering duties in the Warspite and Inconstant, and after taking a course in submarines was second-in-command and engineer officer of K 2, and later in command of F 3.

RETURN OF THE VERONICA

An interesting little ship is due to arrive at Chatham to-day, the sloop Veronica, Captain W. L. Jackson, D.S.O. For 14 years she has served on the New Zealand Station, which is probably a record in the post-war Navy. In February, 1931, she narrowly escaped destruction in the earthquake at Napier, Hastings, and the surrounding districts. She had arrived at Napier at 8 o'clock the same morning, and within three hours was thrown aground in a precarious position alongside the badly damaged harbour. Commander H. L. Morgan, who received the C.M.G. for his good services, was for a time the only means of communication with the outside world, and it was from his first wireless telegraphic signal, made nine minutes after the eruption, that news of the disaster was communicated. Other warships were quickly on the scene, and the naval officers and men rendered invaluable help until the local civil services could function again. The Veronica is being relieved by the new sloop Leith about October.

CHINA STATION SLOOPS

H.M.S. Bridgewater, Commander J. S. M. Mackenzie-Grieve, after her cruise in Japanese waters, is due at Shanghai to-morrow, and should remain there for a month. From July 23 to August 27 she is to go to Hankow. The three sloops on general duties on the China Station, the Bridgewater, Folkestone, and Sandwich, have all just been recommissioned at Hong Kong for further service in the Far East.

COMMANDER LAWRENCE RETIRED

Lieutenant-Commander R. W. Lawrence, D.S.C., who has retired at his own request with the rank of commander, is an old boy of the Thames Nautical Training College (H.M.S. Worcester). He served in the R.N.R. up to 1916, when he was granted a commission in the Royal Navy for distinguished service in Submarine E-14 commanded by Commander (now Rear-Admiral) E. Courtney Boyle, V.O., in the Dardanelles and Sea of Marmora. E-14 on one occasion stopped a Turkish brigantine, but owing to bad weather could not go alongside. Lawrence swam to the vessel, found her laden with stores for the Turkish Army, and set her on fire. In 1918 he was appointed in command of the destroyer Amazon, and since the Armistice he has commanded the Cricket and reserve gunboats in China, the destroyer Wrestler, and the minesweeper Dundalk. In 1929 he became fleet photographic officer Home Fleet, and his last duty was in charge of the Photographic School at Whale Island.

CAPTAIN HUTCHINGS RETIRED

Commander J. F. Hutchings, D.S.O., O.B.E., who has retired at his own request with the rank of captain, has had a distinguished career in the submarine service, and was decorated for his work in command of submarines during the War. For 10 years, 1922-32, he was at the head of the experimental department at the Submarine Depot at Port Blockhouse, and was granted an award from the Loft Naval Efficiency Fund for his invention of a new control gear for submarine models. He has had 39 years' service, having gone to sea as a midshipman in the cruiser Cressy in China in May 1901. He was made O.B.E. in 1928.

HONG KONG, JULY 5, 1934.

A TIMELY APPEAL

An appeal has been launched for funds to restore the old Protestant Church and Cemetery at Macao, and it is interesting to note that the Church was built originally by the East India Company in 1814 and that in the adjoining cemetery is buried a number of the early European and American residents in the Far East—men who lost their lives while procuring for foreigners in China those early privileges which have since become so largely developed.

It is interesting to recall that not so long ago the Catholic communities of Hong Kong and Macao made a joint pilgrimage to the tomb of St. Francis Xavier at Sanchuen. One of the earliest missionaries to the Far East, Francis Xavier, was followed by men of commerce, who found in China a difficult though attractive mart. The Portuguese have been in China for almost four hundred years and undoubtedly boast of a longer association with Cathay than any other Western nation. Macao, their possession and stronghold in South China afforded protection, not only to Portuguese merchants, but also to those of other nationality seeking to trade in China.

Anyone interested in the history of European enterprise in the Far East will find an endless stream of subjects in the study of some of the more historic places in Macao. The ruins of St. Paul's Cathedral is a case in point. It brings back to the memory the days when Macao was known as the "Holy City of the East" and stood as the champion of Christianity in this part of the world. To make the city fully deserving of such a title, the then Senate ordered the construction of a huge church, one wall of which, together with the large terrace in front, still stands to-day—a monument to the religious zeal of the early Portuguese settlers in the Far East.

Then there is the statue of Camoens, the great Portuguese poet, who found Macao a haven of rest and peace, which inspired him to great heights. The groto which commemorates the visit and stay of Camoens at Macao is undoubtedly a place of primary historical interest but unfortunately few outside of the residents of Macao know of its existence and fewer still know the greatness of the man whose memory the groto preserves, or the romantic circumstances which brought Camoens to Macao.

There is in the later history of the Portuguese Colony much that is linked up with the history of other foreign possessions in China, and the old Protestant Church and Cemetery at Macao are undoubtedly such a link. Before Hong Kong was a British colony, Macao was the place for health and comfort and was therefore the natural headquarters for those seeking trade with South China. It was not surprising that the East India Company should make its Church and Cemetery at Macao and considerations upon historical grounds alone, if upon no other, would, we feel sure, urge many to contribute generously to the work of restoring these places of interest, which seemingly have been allowed to become dilapidated. The early history of Hong Kong itself is deeply woven into the events occurring at Macao in those days and when it is remembered that the headquarters of H.M.'s Plenipotentiary for British Trade was at Macao even after Hong Kong was ceded to Great Britain, it can therefore be seen how much Macao was valued in those days as a place of residence. We trust that the appeal now launched to preserve the resting place of men like Dr. Morrison, Captain Sir Humphrey Benson and Lord Spencer Churchill will not be allowed to go unheeded.

HEAT WAVE TOLL

SHANGHAI VICTIM
One of the latest victims to succumb to the heat wave in Shanghai was Mr. Herbert Fawcett, a former Hongkong resident, who passed away on Tuesday from sunstroke.

Of a quiet and retiring disposition, Mr. Fawcett made numerous friends locally, and the news of his death will be widely regretted. He leaves a widow with whom the deepest sympathy will be felt.

The late Mr. Fawcett, who was 56 years of age, was employed in the works department of Messrs. Butterfield and Swire in Shanghai at the time of his death. He first came to Hongkong in 1914 as a first-class overseer in the Public Works Department, but left the Government service two years to become clerk of works to Messrs. Leigh and Orange, architects.

Later, he was for a time with the Hongkong and Shanghai Hotels, Ltd. and in 1923 joined Messrs. Butterfield and Swire, with whom he remained until transferred to Shanghai early in 1928.

BRITISH-CHINESE CO-OPERATION-IV

Tragedies And Dramas Caused By "Clashes"

As we examine more deeply into the problem of two civilisations rubbing shoulders together, we are constantly drawn into comparisons with the incidents of history. When erroneous opinions are held, misunderstandings may easily arise. Already there are the germs of future misunderstandings being born into the Far Eastern world of British and Chinese civilisations.

If we read history we shall learn of the terrible tragedies and dramas caused by clashing civilisations. It is possible to visualise the last members of a civilisation being overwhelmed and swamped by others. When the crash has come, all have passed through the fire: men, women and children. In history these clashes call up stories of beleaguered and sacked cities. From Babylon to Jerusalem, and from Rome to Constantinople have these dramas occurred.

In every case a brutal soldiery composed of uneducated elements has taken control, to the destruction of what is spiritual and civilised. The history of China is exactly similar to that of Europe. What we have at the present day is what has been left over after the holocausts have passed. Must such things happen again? Human nature is not very much above beast, and in facing the elements of destruction the educated amongst the British and Chinese should stand together.

If they misunderstand each other then those who have put self-interest before humanity must carry the responsibility. As an example of how misunderstandings are born, it is possible to take the example of the military training now being given to the youth of China. No one can in any way blame China for attempting to train her youth. All western nations and America give military training to their young. Unfortunately the purpose of foreign civilisation is very often perverted when applied by the Chinese. That youth should be trained to patriotism in order to defend their country from aggression is right and proper. The man power in China's armies leaves very much to be desired, as regards quality. It does not represent the best elements of China's people. With this military training, China's youth is, however, receiving a disastrous idea; that in the future China will have the strongest and biggest army and will be able to sweep Europe. The shades of Genghis Khan are invoked. This idea is only in germ, and as yet many of the youth hardly realise that they have the idea. But the idea is there. The fact that Genghis Khan was not Chinese, and that such ideas are foreign and destructive to China's civilisation they overlook; they do not even now know China's civilisation in anything but name. The disaster would be for China and not for Europe.

A production through the ages of Confucianism, China will never be military minded. Her strength lies in her non-aggressive nature. How can a highly civilised country throw off her civilisation and be herself? China would find herself an offshoot of Europe or Japan, her civilisation sold to museums. She would be dead as are Babylon and Egypt.

On the other hand the Briton must shoulder some responsibility if such ideas have penetrated into China. In Hongkong the point of contact between Britain and China, the people have obtained nothing more than a glimpse of the British. They do not know what Britain is; not an aggressive nation, but a defender of liberty. The British in Hongkong seem to have failed to make China understand that the Empire grew every time it was attacked. In fact that it was when Britain defended herself against intolerable aggression that she expanded. This cannot be taught by writing or by speeches. It can only be taught by example. If British attitude towards the Chinese has been unfortunate, then China cannot be blamed for looking upon Britain as an aggressive nation. If the Chinese see Britons who are proud or apt to be domineering then it is natural that Britain should be considered as being grasping. The Empire is the product of the British fighting man, and the phrase that "Trade follows the flag," is true. There is no character more suitable for the Chinese to imitate than that of the British soldier, who strongly resents any attempt at foreign aggression.

Advantage has been taken of China's weakness, sometimes rightly and sometimes wrongly. Why then is the attitude of individuals important? Is it because the whole nation is judged from those few British, whom the Chinese see? Not by any means. In China a real man or woman is permitted to do what false people cannot do. The Chinese judge character amongst themselves, and they judge it in the foreigner. A good man who is firm, is looked up to because he will act justly. A weak and interested man who acts firmly will be criticised.

In Hong Kong, apart from educational and government circles, self-interest has been much to the fore for nearly one hundred years. The Chinese people are no dupes of speeches. Much of the feeling between Chinese and British is due to the unfortunate manner of those who have come out here to make money. Such foreigners can find their counterparts amongst those Chinese who place money before country or honour. British of this type have failed to learn that patriotism imposes a burden of self-sacrifice upon their shoulders. While in Hong Kong they are continually under the eye and judgment of another great civilisation. There is only one short cut to avoid the constant strain, and that is to learn the civilisation of the Chinese. Most Britons would not consider this as being a short cut, because it means hours of study; language, spoken and written. It is a short cut because through this knowledge direct contact is made and face can be obtained which cannot be obtained otherwise. If this short cut be not taken then the Briton can only maintain his face by constant example against Chinese criticism. How many are there who can set the necessary high example which would cause Britain to be properly appreciated? The last hundred years does not show many examples.—C. M. Faure.

MOMENTOUS CABINET MEETING

Measures For Quelling Revolt Upheld

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, July 3. Chancellor Hitler at a special Cabinet meeting on Tuesday gave an extensive report of Saturday's actions which shattered the attempted mutiny in the Stormtroop high command. According to an official communiqué, the Führer emphasised that the lightning quick stroke was necessary to out rule the danger and destruction of thousands of human lives.

The Defence Minister, von Blomberg, thanked the Chancellor in the name of the Army and Navy for the "resolute and courageous action through which the German people was saved from a civil war." Thereupon the Cabinet approved of the "law concerning the defence emergency," the final section of which reads "the measures utilized for the putting down of the most high-treason attacks on June 30 and July 1 and 2, 1934, are hereby declared legal as emergency State self-defence."

ECONOMIC REPRISALS

The Minister of Justice, Guertner declared the defence measures taken in the face of immediate outbreak of treasonous action possess not only the legality but the character of a Statesman's duty. The Cabinet further decreed a change in the recent "law for the unity of the party and the State" so that henceforth the Stormtroop Chief of Staff no longer automatically becomes a member of the Cabinet without portfolio. Further the new law "for the adoption of economic reprisal measures against foreign nations" gives the Minister of Economics full power to act and protect the German trade interests against the attempts of foreign countries to apply the measures of force against the German trade and transfer. At the same time a special decree empowers the Minister to make temporary changes in the German tariff to the same purpose.

MASTER OF THE HUNT

One more office was placed upon the broad shoulders of Hermann Goering when Hitler appointed the present Air Minister, Prussian Premier and General of Infantry to a further post of "chief master forester" as the result of one more cabinet decree which transfers the control of the nation's forests and hunting to the jurisdiction of the Prussian Premier. Through the terms of the appointment, Minister Goering will also bear the title of "National master of Hunt."—Transocean Kuo Min.

REPORT TO HINDENBURG

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

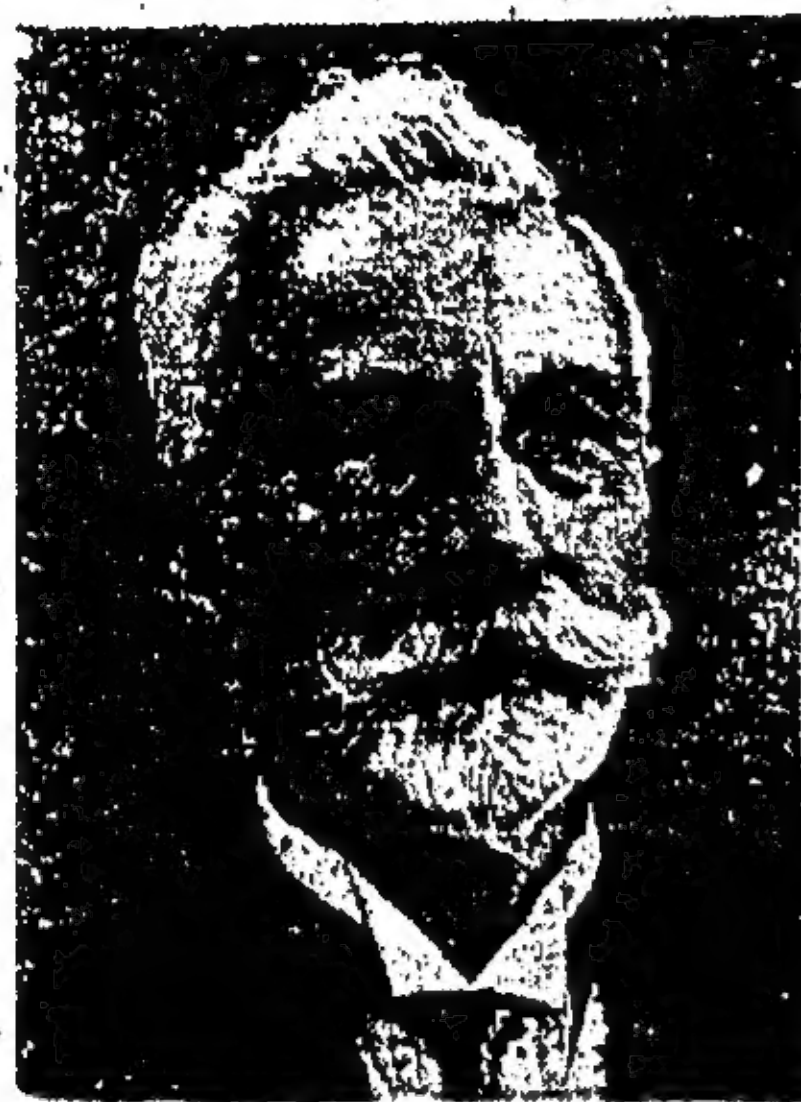

Berlin, July 3. Chancellor Hitler flew immediately to Neudeck following Tuesday's cabinet session, in order to report to the Reich President the measures taken to suppress the high treasonous machinations. The Reich President took the occasion to thank the Chancellor in person for the resolute action by which he spared the German people and the Fatherland grave disturbances.—Transocean Kuo Min.

UNIFORM FORBIDDEN

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, July 3. All measures for the suppression of the Roehm revolt terminated on Sunday night, according to a proclamation by Hitler issued on Tuesday and which contains a warning that anyone guilty of committing an action of violence on his own authority in pursuance of punitive action will be handed over to the authorities for trial before the regular courts of justice.

All members of the Steelhelmet organisation—which is now known as the "National-Socialist Front Fighters Federation"—are forbidden to wear uniform for the time being by order of their leader, Reich Minister Seide, who in a decree issued on Tuesday declares that in these times of stress only uniforms of State forces belong on the street.—Transocean Kuo Min.

William II, Ex-German Emperor, who is 75 years old, is closely following the happenings in his country from his retreat at Doorn. Despite alarmist reports, none of the members of the Imperial family are involved in these events in any way.

NAZI POLICY SWITCH

Realisation Of A Serious Pass

Berlin, July 4.

The Nazi policy is expected to tend to the Right following Hitler's realisation of a serious pass to which business in the country has drifted despite apparent contradictions.

This view is borne out by the shootings of Roehm and other Nazi extremists, while it may be assumed that the Reichswehr would not have supported the Government without satisfactory assurances that the views of junkers and industrialists will be respected for which humiliations were suffered by von Papen. It is all the more surprising that Hitler appears to have realised that his followers blundered in this direction with the result that von Papen has quitted the Cabinet. The high dudgeon shooting of von Schleicher and his Left fellow generals is indelible as it is unpopular and is regarded as the work of an intriguing self-seeker.

Meanwhile it is noticeable that none of the members of the Imperial family are in any way involved in the recent happenings, despite alarmist reports.

To-day it was amusingly announced that Major von Muldner, the Crown Prince's Aide-de-Camp, who was reported as shot, feels absolutely comfortable and is working as usual.—Reuter.

LIGHTNING ACTION

Berlin, July 3.

The only interesting revelation in the communiqué issued at the conclusion of the prolonged Nazi Cabinet meeting, yesterday was that Chancellor Hitler stated that lightning action had been necessary, otherwise there would have been the danger of many thousand of lives being lost.

The Minister of Defence thanked Hitler for his courageous act on saving the country from civil war and re-affirmed the Cabinet's loyalty.

The official list of those executed is to be published and at present, contains 46 names.—Reuter.

FIRES OF REVOLT UNQUENCHED

Berlin, July 4.

The "Blood Bath" in Germany has not quenched the fires of revolt. According to the Berlin correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," who declares that he has seen an illegal leaflet issued by the "Stormtroop Revolutionary Committee" saying:

"Our leaders may be dead, but our work for the second revolution goes on. The shot commanders understood the ideals of the Stormtroops. Those who remain don't. Hitler has become the tool of reaction and industrialists who desire to crush the worker."

SIGNED UNDER DURESS

The diplomatic correspondent of the "Daily Express" asserts that he has learned from highly-placed circles that President von Hindenburg signed the messages of

AT WIMBLEDON

Crawford Beats Shields

London, July 4.

At Wimbledon to-day the crowds saw Jack Crawford (Australia) beat Frank Shields (America) in the semi-final in a gruelling five-set game. Crawford was two sets down at the start and he dealt with his opponent in the same way as the latter treated Bunny Austin.

The Australian won 2-6, 4-8, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.—Reuter.

Amazing Flourish Of Winners.

London, July 4.

In sweltering heat and before 18,000 spectators surrounding the centre court at Wimbledon, Crawford, obviously was not fit and reached 2-0, but Shields played hurricane tennis to take six games in a row with many service aces, forehand and backhand strokes. He carried with him the speed of Vines in last year's championships.

In the second set the game went on service to four all, providing the best tennis of the year.

In the third set Shields eased off and Crawford took advantage of it with magnificent rallies and all-round tennis.

The fifth set provided play all most equalling Wimbledon's greatest battle between Crawford and Vines last year. Shields was 3-1, but Crawford made it 4-3 in his favour, only to lose the next game. Crawford, however, finished with an amazing flourish of winning strokes.—Reuter.

LADIES HOLD THE SPOTLIGHT

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

London, July 3.

The ladies held the spotlight on Tuesday in the Wimbledon tennis championship when the semi-finals of the Ladies singles were decided. Miss Helen Jacobs took not only the German ace, Cilly Aussem by surprise but also the public by the "steam rolling" way in which she won the match—6-0, 6-0.

Miss Round kept England in play by eliminating Miss Payot of Switzerland 6-4, 6-2. The French star, Madame Mathieu dropped one set before turning back on Miss Fairley of the United States, 6-3, 6-8, 6-2, while Miss Harigan of Australia also forced to three sets to put out Miss Scriven of England, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

The semi-finals will thus be fought out by the widest possible international assortment—Australia, England, France and the United States.—Transocean Kuo Min.

RAMSAY MACDONALD'S SINCERITY

Attacked By Viscount Snowden

London, July 4.

Viscount Snowden's old time bitter invective has vented the head of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald in the debate on the Budget at the House of Lords, particularly attacking the repeal land tax on which Mr. MacDonald once gave him assurances and with tears in his voice begged him not to resign.

Viscount Snowden said that the Government has dishonoured every general election pledge.

Tories have learnt that Mr. MacDonald was ready to recant any profession, to break any pledge or submit to any humiliation as long as they allow him to call himself Prime Minister.—Reuter.

The correspondent also gives a most reserved report that Chancellor Hitler, on the advice of the Italian Premier, Signor Mussolini, has decided to restore the monarchy in Germany.—Reuter.

NAVAL POWERS' CONFERENCE

Mr. Baldwin Hopes For Success

London, July 3.

Referring in the course of a Parliamentary answer to the bilateral discussions which are proceeding preparatory to next year's Naval Conference, Mr. Stanley Baldwin said that world conditions were now, in many ways, more difficult than at the time of the London Conference.

It was, therefore, more than ever necessary to survey all the ground on which they had agreed before the conference because the deterioration of certain conditions in the world made it all the more necessary. In the view of the British Government, that the conference should meet and that it should achieve some end.

Discussions were taking place and would continue between some of the participating nations, the sole object being to explore the ground so that it might be possible for the conference to meet and to have a successful issue.

Any widespread premature discussion on the tentative proposals put forward in feeling, the way might very easily create such a prejudice in some countries as would entirely defeat the object, at present shared by all the members of conference, which was to get together and do some good work.—British Wireless.

THE HONKEW RIOTS

Shanghai, July 3.

A threat to deal most severely with unruly elements in the Japanese community in Shanghai, was made yesterday by the Japanese Consul-General, Mr. Ishii, in a statement in which he refers to the recent incidents at Hongkew.

It is understood that they will be deported to Japan, if found to be implicated in the riots.—Reuter.

STABILISATION RUMOURS

Caused By Visit of Mr. Harrison

London, July 4.

The forthcoming visit of Mr. Harrison, Governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, to Basle for a meeting with the Bank of International Settlements, has given rise to rumours of early international currency stabilisation. Well-informed quarters are disregarding the rumours pointing out that the question eventually will be decided by the treasuries and not by Governors of Central Banks.

It is also believed that conditions are not yet ripe for stabilisation.

U.S. TREASURY DENIAL

Mr. Coolidge, Acting Secretary of the U.S. Treasury, emphatically denied rumours that the Treasury has formulated a silver purchase plan, including the acquisition before the end of the year of the maximum amount provided by the Silver Purchase Act, according to "Financial Times" correspondent from New York.

Mr. Coolidge declared that the Treasury has no definite silver programme outlined.

Other official circles point out that if the Treasury purchased large quantities of silver as rumoured, the result will be a crash in price when buying ceased.—Reuter.

THIRD TEST MATCH

England's Team Doubt

London, July 3.

The composition of England's team for the third Test match against Australia at Old Trafford, commencing on Friday, is still doubtful.

In addition to Macaulay being unfit, Clark, the Northants' left-hand fast bowler, is suffering from a strained leg muscle and James Langridge, the Sussex all-rounder who was invited with Bowes to be present at Manchester following Macaulay's withdrawal, is reported to have informed the selectors that owing to ankle trouble he does not feel justified in risking the strain of a Test match.

COUNTY RESULTS

The following are the results of County Cricket matches concluded to-day:

Yorkshire (300 and 71-1) beat	Notts (248 and 229) on first
Lancashire (395 and 252-4) beat	Sussex (383) on first innings.

PRINCE CONSORT'S DEATH

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

The Hague, July 3.

Prince Consort Hendrik of the Netherlands, Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin died here on Tuesday afternoon of heart failure following a short illness. The Prince's death came quite unexpectedly for his condition was considered so far from alarming that it was not believed necessary to recall the heiress apparent, Princess Juliana from her visit to England. Early in the afternoon the Prince Consort's condition suddenly took a turn for the worse and death occurred before the Queen, who was staying at the neighbouring palace, could be summoned.

Prince Hendrik who was born in 1876 was the son of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. He had been for a time in the Prussian army but left the service shortly before his marriage to Queen Wilhelmina which took place in February, 1901. On the marriage day, the Prince Consort was presented with the title rank of Prince of the Netherlands and ever after held an advisory vote in the Dutch State Council. The Royal couple had one child, Princess Juliana who was born in 1909.—Transocean Kuo Min.

ADMIRAL OKADA TO FORM CABINET

No Change Expected In Foreign Ministry

Tokyo, July 4.

Admiral Okada is busy endeavouring to form a Cabinet which is expected will be announced tomorrow afternoon. It is learned that Hayashi and Osumi have agreed to remain as War and Navy Ministers respectively.

Mr. Hirota is confidently expected to retain the portfolio of Foreign Minister.

Baron Yamamoto is mentioned as the possible Finance Minister. Other appointments are still in the air.

Stock prices boomed in the afternoon.—Reuter.

COUNCIL OF ELDERS MEET

Tokyo, July 4.

Setting a new precedent, the "Council of Elders" consisting of Prince Saloni, Count Makino (Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal), Baron Ikki, Count Kiyoura (ex-President of the Privy Council and ex-Premier), Baron Wakatsuki (ex-Premier) and Mr. Takahashi, ex-Minister of Finance, met at 9.50 a.m. to decide upon the recommendation to be made to the Throne.

Saito at that time was still favourite for the Premiership although the name of Mr. Yamamoto, the resigned Minister of the Interior, was also mentioned. The Council were credited with the view that the continuance of the ex-Cabinet's policies, especially its financial policy, is vital.

There are signs that the Army and Navy will hold out for the new government's acceptance of their national policies, involving huge armaments expenditure, before agreeing to nominate the Army and Navy Ministers.

ADMIRAL SUMMONED

Tokyo, July 4.

COLOMBO SURPRISE AT ASCOT

Beaten At Five To One On By Flamenco

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 20. The first day of Ascot had its sensational feature, perhaps more so than in any average year. There was the defeat in the seventh and concluding race of Colombo, the horse that needs no introduction to readers, writes a correspondent. At 5 to 1 on he could not beat Lord Rosebery's Flamenco, whose starting price was 100 to 1.

Their Majesties the King and Queen purposely waited to see Colombo's race. As a rule they leave the Royal Enclosure before the last race.

The first of the handicaps, the Ascot Stakes, had an astounding result when won by the 25 to 1 chance, Hands Off, with all the fancied horses routed. Another outsider to score was Duplicate, who, for Sir Charles Hyde, won the Gold Vase. The two-year-olds were staunch in the sense that the winners of the Coventry Stakes and Queen Mary Stakes were great public favorites.

To-day prudent backers will play lightly where the Royal Hunt Cup is concerned. The maker of the handicap, Mr. Arthur Fawcett, is as much baffled as most of us to find the winner of the problem which he created.

My own view is that if I had to make a backing book I would have to support at the right prices about a dozen horses and then, perhaps, experience the devastating sensation of having missed the winner.

We know the much esteemed ones are Alluvial, who may have no more out-and-out admirer than his jockey, Cazalake, Cotoneaster, notwithstanding the long odds at which she stands; Fonab, Pricket, Commander III, The Abbot, Tartan, Young Native, Rentenmark, Morfar, Highlander, and Earlson.

Mr. Fawcett obviously thinks a lot of Light Sussex, and may not think he has given him too much weight. It is a question whether to take the Victoria Cup form or that for the Jubilee Handicap. If the latter, then Cotoneaster and Solatara are not out of it, though Solatara has been allowed 8 lb from Cotoneaster, which should bring them very close together.

The Victoria Cup form brings in Alluvial, Commander III, and Fonab. The last named must have a chance of beating Alluvial, though it is fairly certain that Mr. Joel's horse has never been as good as this year. Commander III was nearly brought down in the race at Hurst Park, notwithstanding which he ran on to fill third place. The French handicapper thinks well of him, and will be the least surprised should he win to-day.

Tartan Winner on Course. Pricket must always be considered, but his best form has not been shown at Ascot. A good word can be said for Tartan. He was the winner of the Britannia Stakes on the course last year. I certainly give him a chance. If Rentenmark can win under his big weight, then he most certainly will deserve to do so. Morfar's ability to get the distance has to be taken on trust, but not by the many who have backed him and say he will win.

Highlander is well handicapped, and Earlson might be a good thing at the weights. I have a very good tip for him. I shall select Commander III to win, and take Fonab and Tartan as likely ones for the minor places.

Narrow Defeat of Rambler. The Queen Anne Stakes decided over the Hunt Cup distance, was especially interesting, because it would tell us whether, after artificial aid to the growth of grass, the winner would come from the group on the Stand side. For a long way North Devon, Lord Glanely's colours, and running in No. 1 position, was in front, and in the end was only beaten a short head and a neck by Sir Alfred Butt's Spend a Penny and Mr. P. G. A. Harvey's Rambler. In another stride or two Rambler must have won, so very fast was he travelling at the finish.

On the first day of flat racing this year horses named Hands Off and Penny-a-Liner finished third and second respectively for a mile handicap. Hands Off was then giving 10 lb. Now, giving only 8 lb, he not only beat Penny-a-Liner, but he won the Ascot Stakes at 25 to 1. The other was second. Who could have foreseen such a thing as this on that first day at Ascot? One never heard the name of either mentioned, certainly not stopped horses winning before to-day, and, of course, it never will do.

Hands Off was always either first or second. When he was second he was being led by Melodrum. At the other end of the strung-out field were the well-backed horses. Claran was the absolute last and Solatium, the favourite, was last but one. They both improved later, but what hopeless plight they appeared to be in! There was Donoghue hard at work on Solatium, while the leaders were going easily on the bit.

At the finish, with still some lengths separating them from the first two, Claran came in fourth and Solatium was about eighth. Claran especially must have made up a deal of ground. Son of Mint and Within the Law were among the disappointments, and, indeed, the race generally could not have been more disappointing for backers. Few could have given a second thought to the chance of the winner. It is, nevertheless, pleasant to extend congratulations to Mr. F. W. Dennis, who quietly does his bit as an owner, and was now enjoying his most important success.

It is doubtful whether the field as a whole for the Coventry Stakes was up to the standard of this high-class event for two-year-olds, but I am sure the winner, Hairan, is an exceptionally good colt. Some onlookers may not agree with the opinion since he seemed to take so long to beat Pampas Grass by half a length. Incidentally Pampas Grass is very well thought of, and not only by his owner and trainer.

It was Colonel Story's grey colt that showed very fine beginning speed, and after Lord Glanely's Golden Araby filly had been disposed of Pampas Grass was left in front. Meanwhile, Hairan had been several lengths behind at one time, but Gordon Richards gave him every chance to get on his legs and balanced. It was just over a furlong from home that Hairan had to be asked to quicken and get on with the job. The request was accompanied by some whipwaving, first in one hand and then in the other, though without actual use being made of it. From running rather green Hairan put in some fine finishing work to himself the better colt at the right place.

A Son of Fairway. I was told that a little while ago Hairan had some shin soreness. He would not have run, of course, had there been the slightest sign of it, but it is just possible the colt might have been feeling the ground in the early part of the race. He is a big colt and gives an impression of plainness until one realises his many good points. Such a good winner must, of course, be seen at his best when in action. One readily recalls his size, Fairway, winning the Coventry Stakes, and this son of his may well emulate his deeds and become a classic winner.

Gold Vase Surprise. In the see-saw of results where hot favourites were concerned we had the long-priced win of Sir Charles Hyde's Duplicate in the race for the Gold Astor's Bright Bird, was defeated. Bright Bird is a dismayingly unlucky horse. Every time he runs there is one to beat him. This time the Manton connections were very confident about his ability to win this two-mile race, favoured as he was in the weights through the fact to never having won.

From the start Duplicate and Cecil were sent out to make the pace an absolute "cracker." It seemed that neither could keep it up to the end, and, indeed, before long Cecil was finished with. The filly ran on with great gameness, even though she may have reached the maximum of her effort just before the end.

V. R. C. GALA

Promising Form Yesterday

Owing to the heavy entries for Saturday's gala, the officials in charge of the Victoria Recreation Club's aquatic sports decided to swim off the heats yesterday evening.

As is generally known, the members of the V.R.C. collectively, are easily the best exponents of free style swimming, but they are admittedly not so good as the Chinese in the breast stroke. This season, however, an effort is being made to improve the standard and some of the best "free style" men are taking up breast stroke while some youngsters are looking ahead by concentrating on the breast stroke from the very start of their racing careers.

The entries for the 100 yards breast stroke were consequently so heavy that it necessitated three heats, and from times returned it looks as if E. M. Marques, B. Remedios, and A. da Rosa will have a very close race on Saturday.

In the boys' race the entries were also quite heavy and two heats were necessary. The results will be found below.

The Club's "C" Class medley race drew so many supporters that four heats were required. Only the winners and the fastest loser will swim in the final. The programme on Saturday commences at 9 sharp and owing to its length it is particularly requested that those who attend will make it a point to be in their seats by 9 p.m. There will be a dance following the gala, the music being provided by "Fred and His Pals."

The results of yesterday's heats were as follows:—
Boys' 100 Yards Handicap.—(Heat 1) 1. A. Azevedo; 2. T. Carvalho. (Heat 2) 1. A. Rosa; 2. A. Cruz and L. M. Remedios (Dead Heat).

75 Yards Medley Race "C" Class.—(Heat 1) 1. E. Lawrence; 2. C. Rozario. (Heat 2) 1. G. Souza; 2. L. Barros. (Heat 3) 1. L. A. J. Silva; 2. N. Deltz. (Heat 4) 1. C. M. C. Victor; 2. L. M. Remedios.

100 Yards Breast Stroke Handicap.—(Heat 1) 1. E. M. Marques; 2. B. Gozanso; Time 79.4 seconds. (Heat 2) 1. H. M. Remedios; 2. N. Dalgado; Time 80.3 seconds. (Heat 3) 1. A. A. Rosa; 2. L. R. Silva; Time 88 seconds. Rosa will receive seven seconds from Remedios and Marques in the final.

It was announced that Lawrence, Souza, Silva, Victor, the winners between them as they came to the last turn. Half-way up the straight it did seem as though Bright Bird would come through all right. Perhaps he drew level, or even headed Duplicate, but he could not maintain the run. The other did not weaken, and at the finish was even a comfortable winner by two lengths.

A Misunderstood Stayer. Here was a case of a young horse winning over a long distance for the first time. Three times before he has run this season. On the second occasion he was gambled on to win a seven-furlong race at Newbury. He was third. Last time out at Chester he was second in a mile and a quarter race. On the face of it, the form looked only moderate. How, therefore, could he be considered seriously for the Ascot Gold Vase?

The conclusions are simple enough. Duplicate must be a snayer that has been misunderstood up to now. He must also be allowed to race away in front and not held in check as has been done in earlier races. Fox has been beaten on him. Now the colt beat a hot favourite on which Fox had the mount.

The Earl and Countess of Lonsdale found themselves in the little unsaddling stall for the winner after the race for the Queen Mary Stakes had been run. They were both supremely happy, for the filly Carretta, held on lease by Lord Lonsdale from the National Stud, had beaten a big field most stylishly. Nothing could have been smoother than her showing.

It was ideal from the point of view of the many backers who had rallied to support another Ascot favourite just after a sharp reverse. The filly had rapidly found top pace, showing the value of previous experience; thereafter her success was never in doubt.

For services rendered to Lord Lonsdale, the filly was entitled to the kiss of thanks smiling bestowed by Lord Lonsdale. As I have written on earlier occasions, Carretta is an individual of singular charm, with every possible

RACING RECORD

Informative Volume Just Published.

"The Hong Kong Racing Record for the First Half of 1934" has just been published by the Hong Kong Jockey Club, and the volume contains the usual valuable information to which followers of the local turf are accustomed.

The racing record of each individual pony is given, and full details of every official race during the season are also included.

The "Distance Record" showing the times taken by the many winners over various distances is illuminating and of course there is a comprehensive jockey record. Mr. N. Deltz heads the list of successful jockeys with 21 wins 18 seconds and 21 thirds. He was unplaced 57 times.

Of the ponies Liberty Bay has won the biggest amount in stakes this year. Hydroplane heads the griffins with stakes totalling $5,581.

Tiny Star earned $4,397, being the most successful subscription griffin, so far as stakes are concerned, while Able Amazon heads the Australian section with stakes totalling $4,942.

Of the respective heats in the Medley race will swim in the final and that L. M. Remedios being the fastest loser will also be allowed to participate.

LAWN BOWLS

Four Singles Games

In the Singles championship, H. Overy was beaten by J. S. Landolt on the Police Club green by 21-19 after an exciting struggle which lasted 25 heads. The result was in doubt until the end, as both players led in turn, but at the 24th head, J. S. Landolt forged ahead and continued till the next head when he obtained a single which gave him the match.

On the Civil Service green G. Perkins beat C. J. Tacchi by 21-15. The winner led all the way and there was no serious challenge that he would be overtaken.

J. K. Sloan defeated A. M. Rym-Jan on the Craigengower green by 22-15. G. Duncan had an easy game when he met and defeated J. M. Jack at the Indian Recreation Club green by 22 to 5 shots. Of the fifteen heads played the winner scored on ten and of which, he registered a 4 and two 3's. The loser's five shots were made up of Singles.

Open Pairs. At the Kowloon Dock R.C. green, B. W. Bradbury and U. M. Omar had an easy victory in the Open Pairs championship. Their opponents were Elliot-Haywood and A. E. Silkstone.

The Craigengower pair won by 23-8. On the Talkoo green, A. S. Gomes and W. K. Way beat W. McLeod and W. Mair by 23 shots to 14.

Weak Teeth

are usually due to a lack of Calcium (lime) in the body

For Women

Kalzana is of the greatest value in regulating the bodily functions. Any lack of calcium results in pain and prostration, but these are quickly relieved as soon as the shortage is made good. By taking Kalzana, the scientifically approved calcium treatment, you can avoid pain and discomfort. By restoring the balance of calcium in a natural way, Kalzana must do you good, and cannot possibly be harmful.

Before Baby comes

The expectant mother should be careful to remember that she must supply all the calcium needed to form her baby's bones and tissues. Kalzana gives all the extra calcium needed, and corrects any shortage in the mother's diet. It protects the mother against loss of hair, decay of the teeth, vomiting, general weakness and debility, whilst it also ensures her baby against any predisposition to rickets.

Preserve your own health, and safeguard your baby's by taking Kalzana in good time.

(Use it during the last six months of your pregnancy).

Note

Only in the scientific form of Kalzana—a combination of calcium-lactate and sodium-lactate—are you sure that the calcium will be absorbed and retained by the body. Ordinary calcium administrations are often useless—it must be Kalzana.

Remember that your teeth are living parts of your body. The food they require is Kalzana, the calcium food. If your teeth get too little calcium, they become weak and liable to decay.

Such teeth are a constant cause of pain and trouble and never look healthy.

Start taking Kalzana and notice how quickly your teeth become strong and white. By taking Kalzana, pain and trouble are prevented, decay is arrested and your teeth permanently strengthened.

Lack of Calcium in the body causes many different complaints. Regain your health by taking

KALZANA

The Calcium Food

At all Chemists

Made by the manufacturers of Sanatogen & Formamin

Characteristic signs of lack of calcium in the body are:

- ✓ Eczema
- ✓ Night sweats
- ✓ Inflammation of the Skin, caused through unhealthy blood.
- ✓ Netterash
- ✓ Colds of long duration
- ✓ Bleeding of the Nose and other forms of excessive bleeding.
- ✓ Loss of Hair
- ✓ Tooth decay in grown-ups and children.

These complaints show that your body is suffering from a lack of calcium. Kalzana will conquer your complaint by removing its cause (lack of calcium).

Make your teeth strong and white with KALZANA

Weak and difficult Children are often to be seen because of a lack of calcium in the body. Rapid growth demands a great deal of calcium to form strong bones and healthy tissues. When kept short of calcium, children become nervous and moody, and difficult to manage.

Children

"A listless difficult child" is a child whose constitution is out of order," writes a famous physician.

After having examined a great many difficult children, he writes: "I could prove that the blood of many so-called 'difficult' children was poor in Calcium."

Children take

Kalzana Tablets like sweets, a sure sign that their system is in urgent need of it.

In Diarrhoea—

Kalzana hastens the healing of the ulcerated and inflamed areas and soothes the nerves. With Kalzana the diarrhoea will very quickly stop.

"By the use of 6 Kalzana tablets daily the Diarrhoea (in two severe cases) was stopped in an amazingly short time," writes Dr. ZUNTZ, the world-famous Physician.

The opinion of well-known medical papers about KALZANA:

"The Pharmaceutical Journal of New Zealand," Jan. 1930. "Kalzana has been used with very good results in cases of calcium deficiency, such as bone diseases, dental caries, rickets, weakness in growing children, during pregnancy and lactation—in fact, in all cases where a diet with an excessive calcium content is necessary." Rickets too are a typical sign of a lack of calcium. Kalzana will set all that right, and very soon your child will be happy and healthy again.

"The British Journal of Tuberculosis," April 1929. "We have employed Kalzana with much advantage in the management of delicate children. It seems to be of considerable service in cases of rickets and other morbid conditions of bone and also as a preventive of dental caries. For pregnant women Kalzana is often beneficial."

LANE, CRAWFORD'S SHOW LOSS

Fate Of Company To Be Decided In Autumn

The thirty-eighth annual general meeting of Messrs. Lane, Crawford & Co., Ltd., was held at the head office of the company at 23-25 Nanking road, at 5.30 p.m. yesterday. Mr. J. W. Crawford presided, supported by Messrs. D. Mennie and R. J. Bowerman. The loss for the year as shown by the balance sheet amounted to $113,180.34. After the notice convening the meeting had been read, the chairman said:

"The directors again have to regret that they are compelled to produce accounts showing such a great loss in trading for the twelve months ending February 28, 1934. The causes for this loss are practically the same as those mentioned in my speech last year, decline in turnover. There has been a further decrease in returns during the last twelve months, the high tariffs which are practically strangling retailers who deal in imported goods, increase in Municipal rates—our rates have been more than doubled during the last year with no abatement in the rental which we have to pay. This, on our present turnover, we cannot possibly afford to pay and unfortunately our lease runs out to the end of November 1935. When we sold our property in December 1930 one of the conditions of the sale was that we should take a lease of the premises for five years, and as the proposed rental approximately amounted to the same figure as we were then paying out in debenture and bank interest, and other incidental expenses which ownership of property carries with it—we thought it expedient to accept these terms. Our returns, however, have been falling consistently since 1931, with the result as shown by our balance sheets. Every economy has been and will be made but the Directors cannot see that much more can be effected in this direction.

SHIPPING SUBSIDIES IN BRITAIN

Important Statement By Mr. Runciman

Mr. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade

London, July 5.
An important statement regarding the position of the British Mercantile Marine was made by the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Walter Runciman, in the House of Commons, today.

He said that the fundamental difficulties, not only of British but of all shipping at present, were the reduction in sea-borne trade since 1929, and the striking increase in the Mercantile Mariner of the world since the war. Sea-borne trade had fallen since 1929 by one-third and was less than in 1913. On the other hand, merchant shipping had increased by about 50 percent since 1914. The results were seen in the depressed international freight market and in the balance sheets of shipping companies.

Tramp freights stood at about three-quarters of the 1913 figure, although running costs were greatly increased. While liner freights, owing to the conference system, stood at relatively higher figures, many liners were running with empty space. In result, cargoes were being carried on an unremunerative basis, with disastrous results to shipowners.

PROBLEM FOR EVERYBODY
Very few British shipping companies were covering their running expenses, and fewer still were able to make the necessary provision for replacing their ships as they became out of date. This was not only the shipowners' problem, but concerned in particular ships' officers, engineers, and seamen, as well as the nation as a whole.

If this state of affairs were due to fair competition it might be held that the British Mercantile Marine ought to fight its own battles, as in the past, without Government aid, but this was not the case. The increase in the Mercantile Mariner of some other countries had been due in a large part to the stimulus of subsidies, and that financial help was still being given by many foreign countries.

Other countries were, of course, free to adopt what policy they thought fit, but from the point of view of the British Mercantile Marine, competition created and maintained by Government subsidy could not be regarded as fair competition, and British shipowners were entitled to seek the help of their Government if they were not able successfully to defend themselves.

The efforts of the British Government were primarily directed to an increase of international trade. But the revival of world trade might be slow. Passenger and cargo liners were suffering from the falling off in world trade and from subsidised foreign competition.

SUBSIDY FOR TRAMPS
On the other hand, by means of their conference arrangements, they were able, to a certain extent, to protect themselves, although it might be necessary for special measures to be taken by the Government in particular trades.

The bulk of tanker tonnage was in the hands of the big oil trading companies, and this class of tonnage had inaugurated the international plan for adjusting supply to demand. The position of coasting and near sea trades raised considerations somewhat different from those applying to ocean-going shipping, and no special measures in respect of these trades were proposed at present.

As to tramps, the Government were prepared to ask the House for a grant for vessels carrying tramp cargoes under tramp conditions, the subsidy to be used for defensive purposes and to cost not more than £2,000,000.

AIMS OF THE SUBSIDY
This subsidy would be aimed at securing the abolition of foreign subsidies, and the greater employment of British shipping and of the seafaring classes. Such a defensive subsidy could be given only on condition that shipowners formulated a scheme satisfactory to the Government.

Such a scheme must prevent, as far as possible, the subsidy being dissipated by domestic competition of British ships carrying tramp cargoes, and ensure that it was effectively directed to securing greater employment of British tramp shipping at the expense of foreign subsidised shipping. That, entitled a real measure of organisation of tramp shipping.

Such a subsidy would be given for one year only, and within that period it would be subject to withdrawal if the circumstances which led to its introduction were altered. It would also be on condition that shipowners, through their international organisations and in any other ways open to them, press upon shipowners in other maritime countries the framing of proposals tending to adjust the supply of tonnage in the world to the demand, and thus to raise freight rates once more to a remunerative level.

INTERNATIONAL MEASURES
The Government would continue their efforts to secure international consideration of means to place shipping generally on an economic footing, and they intended to communicate with foreign countries to ascertain their views on the possibility of international measures to facilitate the abolition or reduction of schemes for laying-up or scrapping superfluous tonnage, or both.

The task of preparing the ground for and of formulating such schemes must, in the first instance, fall upon shipowners of the chief maritime countries. In considering these problems it was essential to have the co-operation of the Dominions and India.

They must bear in mind, not only the position of tramp shipping but, the position in some of the great liner trades, especially those between different parts of the Empire which were menaced by subsidised foreign competition.

The Government were therefore informing the Dominions and India of the position as they saw it, and seeking their views as to possible lines of action. The Government had been prepared to place at the disposal of the shipping industry financial help on favourable terms for scrapping older British cargo tonnage and providing a smaller quantity of up-to-date cargo tonnage, either by construction of new ships or the modernisation of existing vessels.

REDUCTION IN SURPLUS SHIPS
The object was to ensure a reduction in surplus ships, and to maintain the standard of efficiency of cargo fleets. There had never been any intention of compelling any shipowner to take advantage of the scheme if he did not wish to do so.

Nevertheless, it had not been favourably received by shipowners. The Government were still prepared to co-operate in this matter. Various suggestions had been put forward for the assistance of British shipping by the reservation of inter-imperial trades, preferential treatment of British ships or cargoes carried in British ships in Empire ports, differential duties against foreign ships which had the benefit of Government subsidies, etc.

These were all measures which had their own dangers, but they might have to be considered if the proposals now outlined did not lessen the menace to the British Mercantile Marine. In conclusion, Mr. Runciman urged the industry to make greater efforts to improve its position—British Wireless.

M.C.L. CHILDREN'S CLUB

Meeting Arranged For To-Morrow

The Children's Club of the Peak Branch of the Ministering Children's League is to start its activities on Friday next (July 6) at 4.30 p.m. and meetings will be held on every subsequent Friday throughout the summer.

Mrs. Gordon Mackie is in charge of the Club this season, and Mr. Grayburn of No. 355 the Peak has most kindly offered the use of his house and grounds for these cheery weekly gatherings.

Mrs. Mackie has collected a wonderful staff of helpers, and the children will be shown how to make all sorts of pretty and useful things, while the older children will learn some fascinating handicrafts.

But it is not all hard work. There is always an interval for drill, in the garden followed by a general stampede for buns and lemonade afterwards. Moreover the children form their own lending library. Each child is asked to bring a book to the first meeting, and is allowed to take out another book each week in exchange. At the end of the summer (probably about October 19) a sale of work will be held at the Peak Club, and the proceeds will be given to the M.C.L.

The subscription is five dollars for each child, for the season, and eight dollars for two or more of the same family.

Mrs. Raworth, Mrs. Forster, Mrs. Edmondson, Mrs. C. C. Black, and Mrs. Buyers will be in charge of

SEAL LEAVING FOR ENGLAND

The Royal Artillery First Division football team who were last year robbed of several of their best men, will be deprived of yet another in the person of Mr. Seal, the Interport left winger and former skipper of the Gunners, who leaves the Colony to-morrow by H.M.S. Berwick for England.

Making his debut in Hong Kong football four years ago in the Artillery Second Division team, he was promoted to the senior division in the 1932-33 season when he was on splendid form. So consistently well did he play in the season mentioned above that he was finally selected to play for the Colony against Shanghai on the Club ground, but he failed badly. Originally, one of the finest left wingers in the Colony, Seal has somewhat dropped off his best form.

Seal is leaving to take a special course in gunnery and it is quite possible that he will return to the Colony later.

The different classes, and will be assisted by Mrs. Bousfield, Miss Pamela Foster, Miss Leckie, Miss Dowbiggin and Miss Jean Mackie. Miss Taylor and Miss Answorth will be in charge of the drill class. Mrs. Womack has promised to get up a variety of entertainment for the bazaar, and Mrs. Bellamy will be responsible for the tea on that occasion while Mrs. Archbutt and Mrs. Davidson are going to provide a big Bran-Pub. Mrs. Mackie herself is already selling tickets for a most comprehensive Raffle, which will include objects calculated to please old and young alike. All boys and girls who have not already sent in their names should attend the first meeting to-morrow Friday, at 2.55. The Peak at half-past four o'clock.

COLOMBO'S SURPRISE

points, a high-class racehorse should have.

Frank Butters' important stable sent out its third winner of the day when Achillean won the Prince of Wales's Stakes for Mr. T. Lant. Lo Zingaro was the short-priced favourite to crash this time. Mr. Dewar's colt finished just outside the first three, though possibly he was rather better than that. The winner stays well, and if he had been able to run for the Derby we can see now that he would have made a worthy show. His jockey, took a place with him on the rails, and getting through in good time he was able to get a clear run home from Washington, who, if no worse for his race, may compete against Easton and the French horses for the Grand Prix on Sunday next.

Colombo Thunderbolt. Then came the thunderbolt of the day—a real old-fashioned Ascot surprise when a presumed certainty, on which odds are freely bet, gets beaten. Colombo, at 5 to 1 on, failed by half a length to beat Lord Rosebery's Flamenco for the valuable St. James's Palace Stakes. The one that was seriously expected to represent most danger to Colombo, Lord Astor's Law Maker, never came into the argument.

Colombo possibly jumped off slightly better than Flamenco, but they had not gone a furlong before he was four or five lengths behind Lord Rosebery's colt. Johnstone must have intentionally eased his colt, no doubt, expecting to challenge and win in the straight. Colombo's trainer has always told me that the horse prefers to run his own race. We must assume in this case, that Johnstone was riding to orders.

Flamenco proceeded to show the way and, instead of being kept close to the rails after making the bend into the straight, Harry Wragg deliberately chose to come wide up the middle of the course. Even so, he was able to win. Now the jockey obviously had come to the conclusion that the going was more favourable in the middle of the course than next the rails. One was reminded of what he did when, at Sandown Park, he won the Eclipse Stakes on Miracle for Lord Rosebery by coming right over on to the unwatered ground.

Disasters for Backers.
Colombo maintained the chase next the rails, to be beaten half a length. On the face of it the form looks fairly right if we remember that Windsor Lad beat Flamenco a length for the Newmarket Stakes. And yet Flamenco did not give Windsor Lad a lot of start in that race. The point is that ninety-nine people out of a hundred thought Colombo sure to win. Hence the long odds laid on, and I am assured that they were laid to big amounts, which means that disaster came to such backers.

I know that Harry Wragg had in mind earlier in the afternoon to experiment in the matter of the going. He had mentioned his intention to me, though he said he wanted to find out more about it in the races he was going to ride in. I hesitate to say that Colombo has had enough of pacing for the time being. Some critics will be sure on the point, and will never have a good word for him again. If they are right, then there is an explanation of this failure. I cannot subscribe to the view, at the moment, though admitting its possibility.

NEW YORK STOCK AND COMMODITY QUOTATIONS

AMERICAN ORIENTAL FINANCE CORPORATION AND S. E. LEVY & CO.

New York, July 3.

The American Oriental Finance Corporation report through their New York agents, Messrs. E. A. Pierce & Co., states:—

Stocks:—The market showed nothing perhaps but that the German situation has not caused any liquidation. Business done: 400,000 shares.

Wheat:—There was a natural recovery on unfavourable foreign crop advices. The smaller south western crop movement is encouraging buyers.

Cotton:—There was some light selling but prices are moving up rather easily under moderate trade buying, far eastern purchases and some replacing by longs. The need for rain is quite urgent in many sections of Texas.

Silver:—The market steadied up somewhat after an irregular opening at which there was liquidation following the issuance of 69 notices, which probably accounted for the early setback. Later, more support was in evidence through commission houses. Business: 67 contracts.

The City Bank has declared a dividend of 33 1/3 cents.

THE EXCHANGE MARKET

MESSRS. ROZA BROS. REPORT

Silver prices moved down yesterday in London after a long interval, prices were 3/16 lower at 20 13/16 for Ready and 20 15/16 for Forward. Indian operations were on both sides of the market but on balance the Bazaars bought absorbing sales for account of the Continent and speculators. The market was more or less neglected after prices were fixed but the outlook was steady. In New York the price was steady at 47 cents.

At the opening of the market in New York Sterling was quoted at 5.05 3/8, closing at 5.06 1/8.

Market

The tone was somewhat hesitant at the opening in view of the Sterling quotation from Shanghai, which was lower than expected, but rates firmed up later, easing off to some extent, however, subsequently.

Sterling

1/6 was indicated as the selling rate at the opening with possible buyers at 1/6 3/32. The selling rate, however, was put up later and business was not done except at 1/6 5/32 for August to a moderate extent and subsequently at 1/6 1/8 for a near-delivery this month. 1/6 1/8 continued to be the buying rate for near and at the close of the market buyers would probably have accepted 1/6 3/32, sellers offering 1/6 1/16.

U.S. Dollars

Sellers at 38, later at 38 1/8 and buyers at 38 1/4. August business was reported at 38 5/16, the near market closing with sellers at 38 1/16 and buyers at 38 3/16.

Yen 120.

Shanghai Dollars

Business was done at 110 7/16, closing with sellers at 110 3/8, buyers at 110 7/16.

Shanghai Market

Opening rates were 1/4 1/4 and 1/4 5/16 sellers and buyers of Sterling, and Dollars 34 5/16, Sterling, 34 7/16 buyers. Rates improved 1/16 for both Sterling and Dollars and a further 1/16 in Sterling as well as in Dollars very soon after. Last advices, however, indicated the market at not quite so robust a tone, sellers at 1/4 5/16, buyers 1/4 3/8, and Dollars at 34 7/16 sellers, 34 1/2 buyers.

H. K. STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S OFFICIAL QUOTATIONS

The market seems to have turned its attention to the lower-priced shares, and there was a keen demand this morning for Hotels, China Lights and Cements. In the case of China Lights specially, there does not seem to be an over-supply of shares, and buyers are prepared to bid even higher than the officially quoted rate.

In the Utilities section, Trams and Telephones show some firmness, but in other sections conditions were quiet.

LONGSHOREMEN AGAIN

Lorry Drivers Attacked

San Francisco, July 3.

Violent rioting broke out on the waterfront here to-day, when the striking longshoremen attacked the drivers of two lorries which were driven furiously from the pier in a desperate effort to reopen the port.

Hundreds of armed police rushed to the spot and hurled tear-gas bombs and fired shots over the heads of the rioters. The latter threw back the bombs and stoned the police, who repeatedly baton-charged the mob.

Many rioters were knocked unconscious, and finally the strikers were driven back by blasts from riot guns—Reuters.
